Reason / Comment:

I am an experienced geologist who has been studying the chemistry and geology of silver deposits worldwide for more than four decades.
Bowdens, is well known to me and my team pioneered the early discovery of the deposit over 25 years ago. It is a world class deposit which will become a large silver producer using state-of the art technology for mining and processing.
There is no doubt that, when operational, Bowdens will become a modern showpiece in community supported mining. It will provide the local community with new work opportunities and improved lifestyle and it will be a significant contributor to the NSW economy.
Silver has a growing market in many new technologies, particularly energy transmission and storage and I believe Bowdens is in NSW's best interest.

I have have not made any political donations in the last two years. (If yes, please disclose).
