I wish to OBJECT to the above application

I am a person who likes to shop with the little people, my local butcher, green grocer and fish monger. If you put an incinerator in Tarago an area that is rich in rural and agricultural land how can I trust that the foods I purchase in my local area aren't tainted from the harmful chemicals and toxins that are going to be emitted? The products produced in that area can be sold anywhere in the state, country and world for that matter. How will you guarantee that these products are not affected in any way by the dangerous toxins produced by the incinerator and are safe for me and my family to consume? Why would you even consider putting something so dangerous in a rich agricultural area?

Is this best practice? Is there not a better solution? European countries are closing these things down why would NSW want to start building them? Don't put one in Tarago, don't put one anywhere!!

I have not made a reportable political donation.

I acknowledge and accept the Department's disclaimer and declaration.

Kind regards,
