

To Whom it may concern

My wife and I live in Bungendore and have long held an interest in environmental matters relevant to this part of New South Wales. We have monitored the progress of Veolia in progressing its proposal to establish an incinerator near Tarago and have been interested in the case it has published to safeguard the surrounding environment, particularly rural and rural residential areas downwind. We have read most of the publicly available documentation for the proposal but have reservations over the claim by Veolia to the environmental safeguards from material emanating from the incinerator. Consequently, we do not find Veolia's arguments convincing and cannot support their proposal.

Yours sincerely,
