My objections to SSD-21208499 Glanmire Solar Farm are:

The importance of renewable energy is totally undisputed. My question is why you would choose to install an electricity factory on valuable and prime agricultural cropping land? There are designated Renewable Energy Zones available to be developed by you, but I believe you want it easy - you want land conveniently located close to an existing power grid. This makes your development appealing to a buyer so you can sell, walk away and never face the dire impacts of your actions. Meanwhile, the residents have to live with your destruction of the environment, and the rest of us lose yet another viable food source producer. You should be ashamed, but be warned, the so called 'little people' know your agenda and will not give up without a fight!
