I OBJECT to the Central West Orana REZ Transmission project for the following reasons:

I disagree with the Idea of Running these transmission lines through prime agricultural land. We burn a lot of these paddocks when the time's right, and we need good Access when its bushfire season. Energyco will need 1.91 million Litres of water a day, thats equivalent to 26,000 cattle or 200,000 Sheep that will miss out, not to mention Irrigation rights, we are heading into one of the biggest droughts on record. Why dont they stick solar Panels in Western Aus they get 35% more Daylight than we do, As for the wind Turbines its NOT Windy here. The roads can't cope with local traffic, we need to move stock up and down these roads and 33 vehicles a minute is NOT viable. Our local hospitals can't cope now, we can't even get mail delivered. What do they thing these transmission lines are made of. Australia's biggest copper mine is closing and Iron ore doesn't grow in the garden.

The only renewable energy we need is from a Renewable Government with Energy.
