Dear Sir

Re: Re-location of Groundwater Production Bores at Lot 121 DP 382358, Peats Ridge Road, Calga

As the owner of Lot 121 DP 382358 from prior to the commencement of quarrying operations at the Calga Sands Quarry, until the property was sold in January 2012, I wish to respond to the assertion made by CPRCG Inc. in its submission dated 14 February 2013 that the production bores located at this property were relocated by the previous owners of the Quarry.

I can confirm that since the commencement of quarrying operations, the production bores in question were not re-located during the period that I owned the property.

I can also confirm that in January 2004, Rocla Materials Pty Limited undertook drilling and core sampling on my property to investigate the sand resource, and following this investigation, and the exclusion of the property from any future extraction activities, seven groundwater monitoring bores were installed to assist Rocla with its groundwater monitoring program. These bores remain in use by Rocla for monitoring purposes only.

Yours faithfully

Tony Gazzana
