Until late 2011, I was a resident of northern Illawarra and am still very concerned about major negative impacts and degradation of an environment I worked in and fought to protect over many years. The risks of CSG mining are well-known and the Premier has acknowledged that the current legislation is not adequate to manage development of the industry. Therefore no new applications or modifications should be approved and existing projects should be frozen, to conduct an investigation into the full impacts of CSG development.
