Addenda - Murrumbidgee to Googong Water Transfer Project

Project description

ACTEW Corporation proposes the project to transfer water by an underground pipeline from the Murrumbidgee River to Burra Creek, where it has run of river flow to the Googong Reservoir. The project aims to complement other initiatives to secure water supply for the ACT and surrounding region by accessing a more reliable water source than other ACT rivers, and one not wholly dependant on local rainfall. The ACT Government announced the project in October 2007, as part of its response to recommendations to secure ACT and regional water supply.
