Suitably Qualified Geotechnical Practitioners List

As at: Friday, 3 May 2024

Disclaimer: As at the date of this document, the geotechnical practitioners listed below are considered by Subsidence Advisory to be suitably qualified and experienced geotechnical practitioners as defined by the Merit and Subdivision Assessment Policies. However, the list is subject to change. An updated list should always be obtained from Subsidence Advisory before you use it to consider engaging a suitably qualified and experienced geotechnical practitioner. You should also always independently confirm that a particular geotechnical practitioner meets the requirements to be considered suitably qualified and experienced, before engaging the practitioner.

Geotechnical practitioners not included on the list may be suitably qualified and experienced if they meet the requirements set out in the Merit and Subdivision Assessment Policies, however Subsidence Advisory may require peer review of documentation submitted by geotechnical practitioners in this case. We recommend you consult with Subsidence Advisory to confirm whether requirements can be met.

Subsidence Advisory accepts no liability for reliance on the list below or the services or work of the geotechnical practitioner you engage.
