Incees Pivot Ltd,

To whom it May Concern,

I am writing to support your company in the planned ammonium nitrate facility on Keoragang Island.

Newcastle is a great mix of waterways, beaches and every mix of housing bushland and the Hunter Valley. I love that it has industry that makes our city unique. Newcastle is aligned with the mining industry and provides many businesses with design and growth opportunities. Any business that provides work for our residents is to be encouraged.

The risk of chemical companies exists. I worked in one till I was 8 months pregnant. I thoroughly enjoyed working in a manufacturing industry.

Keoragang Island was a sand road to no-where. It is now full of great industry which lights up our night sky.

The Island companies are now in an era of safety for workers, the environment, and its neighbours. The site inductions prior to employment, E13 and the many criteria a company must comply with make the site one of the safest areas in Newcastle

Tourist towns and cities are not safe.

People without jobs are causing havoc.

I would encourage your company to build in Newcastle, to be part of a vibrant manufacturing city.

Your company will not pollute like BHP did, and will provide jobs to the new generation of honest hard working men & women.

There is risk, but walking down Hunter Street or Nelson Bay is very high risk and we must allow companies the opportunity to thrive in our great city so we can all prosper.

Sandra Moore.
