This extension would be great for the already suffering local economy. With the closure of mines in the area families and local businesses are suffering, so this extension would give some hope in these tough times. Centennial coal does a great job with supporting local sports teams and community events.

RE: AIRLY MINE PROJECT – CAPERTEE

Dear Sir/Madam,

I have been a lifelong resident of the Capertee area. I have followed this project from day one. I fully support the project.

In the original planning of the mine project, a number environmental issues in relation to the mine, in my opinion, needed to be addressed. Over the last few years, with extensive community consultation by Centennial Coal, I feel they have listened to the community and have adequately addressed these concerns.

Benefits of the mine to the local community's economy far outweigh the few concerns that have been generated lately.

I have attended some meetings lately, in my opinion, the few that are still objecting is really nothing to do with the mine activity but by individuals' self-interests.

The Management of Centennial Coal attend most of the local functions and offer support to the community, which I think shows them to be good corporate citizen.

I therefore fully support the operations at Airly mine.

Yours faithfully,

A T (Jim) Bennett

I am a current employee at airy underground colliery. I have worked in the underground coal industry for 29 years at various mines and have seen many changes in this time. airy colliery mining methods have the lowest impact on surface, water, flora and fauna that I have worked with. centennial coal, (airy) , are also a great community minded company, helping with local schools, volunteer and sporting organizations .without airy the Rylstone Kandos area would lose more families to the bigger regional towns and cities, causing the loss of teachers, nurses and hairdressers in our already struggling towns.so with this submission I urge the airy mine extension be granted.

Due to the recent downsizing of Angus Place Colliery to care and maintenance, in conjunction with previous numerous job losses in the mining industry, and rejection by the State Government of other mining ventures in the region, I felt compelled to forward a submission supporting the Airly Mine Extension Project.

It is of my personal opinion that continuous job losses in the mining industry in our region will have a devastating long-term flow-on effect to the local economy and to the already struggling small businesses and broader communities, (mining and non-mining related) that rely on revenue that is generated from employment in the mining industry. Therefore, employment preservation for the future sustainability and growth of our region is therefore paramount.

For the above reasons, I fully support this project going ahead.

I support the extension project. It is very beneficial to our town and the people in it especially my family as my husband works for the mines and would loose his job. We would loose his income and potentially our home and life style. We may have to move away which would be terrible for our 3 children and the community which we support. I also work as a school teacher and this would be very disruptive to my school if we had to leave or if my husband had to move away from us to find a new job. This is the same story for hundreds of families that rely on the mine and this extension to go ahead.

I wish to make a submission in support of the Airly Mine extension.

I have lived in the mudgee region for 12 years now and even though I came to mudgee within the banking industry, I was able to get employment in the mining industry 5 years ago.

For the last 5 years I have been employed by centennial coal and am proud of the image and reputation they have built up in the western districts during this time.

I am currently employed at the Airly mine and to not have the current expansion go through would effect myself and my family immensely.

Although I currently reside in Mudgee I travel each day to Capertee for work and am a regular visitor to the Lithgow region for Mines rescue training at the Lithgow Coal Services compound as well as our whole family attending regularly to the Westfund offices for all our Dental and Optical needs.

All three of our children were born at Mudgee hospital and have all their friends and peer support here where they have grown up.

My wife is a permanent school teacher and if I were to lose my job we would have to uproot our children to move somewhere that I was able to find employment. This would be a major disruption to them as well as my wifes career which she would have to resign and hopefully pick up wherever we end up.

My wife, children and I all have a strong connection with this area as it is where we have decided to make our home and the capertee valley is a valuable part of our family time together, whether it be camping at turon gates or just bushwalking within the capertee valley which we are so proud to know is able to co-exist with the local mine that provides the main income for our family.

Yours sincerely,
Shannon Daniell

Att: Director Mining Projects

Dear Sir,

I am writing in support of the Airly Mine Extension Project. Since starting in the mining industry as an apprentice in 1980, I have solely earned a living as a mining electrician. This in itself has enabled me to remain in my local community, rearing a family and enjoying the benefits of a country lifestyle.

During my 34 years in the industry, I have witnessed major changes in both the mining systems and practices but by far the greatest changes have been in the mining company's attitude to the preservation of the local environment and community concerns. Environmentally, years ago regeneration programs were little more than pushing dirt over an unsightly areas. Today, these programs which are generated from the collieries are proposed with great emphasis on preventing any damage, to regenerating the land back to a better state than it was originally in by localised studies and monitoring.

Economically, Lithgow and the surrounding shires, would be little more than ghost towns if it were not for the presence of mines generating employment both on site and indirectly through the community.

Airly is a committed supported of community organisations, such as local schools, progress associations and sporting bodies. Personally, all three of my children have benefited from the support given to local schools and sporting organisations.

In closing, with the current climate in the mining industry in general being one of free fall due to economic conditions, any industry that can provide employment whilst preserving the environment should be welcomed with open arms to ensure our local communities survive.

Yours sincerely

Robert Dewar

I have lived and worked in this area for the past 10 years, of those ten years I have worked for Centennial Coal (originally at Airly, then Charbon and now Airly again) for 3 years. In this time I have been exposed to some very broad views on Coal mining in the district.

What leads me to make a submission is that such a thing can be so polarizing to the point of level headed discussion goes out the window. I have seen those opposed to the extension turn blindly to any factual information and encourage hearsay and scaremongering on both sides of the argument.

As it stands now with my involvement in the mine I can say I have never worked for an organization that has been so focused on social and environmental consequences, this gives me faith as a local resident of Capertee that Centennial are aware of the factors that will limit their mining operations.

So far without Centennial in the Capertee valley, extensive environmental and native history research would not have been undertaken, as they are obliged to undertake these studies. Local communities that sustain the rural industries would struggle, as the towns of Kandos/Rylstone have already hit by the closure of Kandos Cement Works and Charbon Colliery, would not have the employment opportunity offered by Airly.

Before I started at Airly, I was working in Kandos for another company so to me these towns I consider to be local.

Airly Coal has proven that it wants to be a good for the area they have directly supported Capertee Public School, where my daughters attend. They are active with Capertee Progress Association and I have seen them first hand try to engage in those opposed to mine to allay concerns. But as history shows you can't teach those that don't want to learn.

If I was to have any concerns as a local it would be that I don't know enough, I don't have experience in mining to understand the environmental effects. I have read the proposal and understand they aim to not impact the surface or the cliff faces. And ultimately this is where I have to have faith in the professionals that look at this. Not greenies opposing for opposing sake.

There must come a time when the planning department seek a win win solution, one that placates the environmentalists and allows industry to employ and profit. Airly as I know it have been positive to the local community being employed there has given me more family time and career opportunities.

As a long time friend of current employees & the FAMILIES of the Airly Mine, we cannot begin to express how passionate we are about the approval of the extension of the mine.

Not only for the continued stimulation of the local economy, but the for the financial stability of the families & people, the faces that I know in my community.

How can you expect a local, already frail (nevertheless trying) economy to keep afloat if you eliminate 100+ jobs, positions, careers, and livelihoods?

Each day we are encouraged to live, shop, sell & support local businesses & the people who built the foundations..

How can we if they don't exist? How can we if these jobs are retrenched & the entire families have to move? Families having to leave the area means smaller businesses closing.. More families leaving.. An already tenuous economy disintegrating.. Bankruptcy.. Increased stress levels. Families & relationships within the community deteriorating.. Why would you want this for us?

It's not just one person, one name, one number or one position that is affected here. There is a ripple effect.

Think of the HUMAN in that job position.

Think of that HUMAN's wife, daughter, mother, sister, husband, son, family pet.. Think of their neighbours.. think of their Families who will be affected.

My friend, who works at Airly, who has lived locally for OVER 30 years, is marrying my best friend.. Also my work colleague. IF, god forbid, he loses his job to this absurd proposed closure, he'll have to move.

Countless closures, retrenchments, relocations & so many more greivances have impacted this family that is only just starting out.

He'll have to move. She'll have to move. ANOTHER local business loses out.

Give them a fighting chance.

They do the right thing, they support the community.

They live, love, grow & THRIVE Locally.. A closure like this will only set them back. It will be like ripping the carpet out from underneath them.

Will you support 100+ families to get back on their feet when they cant find a job at another mine?

Will you pack up their houses? Will you find them another house? Will you support these families?

Are you prepared to face the consequences of a closure like this? This blasphemy that will no doubt TEAR families apart?

Do you actually think about these things? Or do you simply see the numbers?

Look at the names. Look at them & tell me that you can't see them as part of a community & you can go to sleep at night knowing that you closed a mine from a fantasy notion presented by a Government body & uprooted, if not potentially ruined 100s to 1000's of lives..

Theres a ripple effect here.

Can you live with that? Or have those extra zeros at the end of your pay checks blinded you?

Have you even considered what this might do to people, communities & their families??

It's wildy inappropriate, irresponsible & hypocritical of you to encourage local living & local communities when you're willing to do something so completely the opposite. Something incredibly unaustralian..

You're compromising the present & you are most certainly compromising the future..

But not yours, right? You're safe & secure.. Your `offices' wont close.. Just the mines that produce the energy to power your computers & lights.. No worries though, you can just export to China & remain under the thumb..

It seems that the poor excuses for Australian Government has lost their heart, one of the traits I was SO proud of when growing up.

I was PROUD to be an Australian..

Now, I look with shame, disgust & anger.

I know I couldn't live with myself if I did this to MY countries people.

But that's okay..

Your families wont be forced to move.

You're safe.

You can sleep easy knowing that your life isn't going to be flipped upside down because a government body has their notions that they pulled from Narnia...

I'd love to know what they're actually doing to HELP Australia.. Isn't that their/your job?

Not destroying it piece by piece.

To Whom It May Concern,

As the wife of a current employee of the Airly Mine I cannot begin to express how passionate I am about the approval of the mines extension , not only for the financial security of our own family , but those of all the other employee's that will be devastatingly affected if the approval was not be granted.

We live locally and have for 30 years, we shop locally and believe strongly in supporting the local economy to keep our already fragile community alive.

I am well aware that a Miners job security is never guaranteed, we have already felt the devastating blow of my husband being retrenched from a previous mine closure, then a relocation from another. The after effects of these kind of situations are something that those who have been fortunate to avoid - would never be able to comprehend!

For generations local family members have been able to rely on the Mining industry for employment, with the comfort of being able to raise their family's local & knowing that there is the opportunity for apprenticeships for the younger generations to further concrete the stability of future.

If the mine was to shut, we would have to leave the area that we have grown up in and that has given us the opportunity to purchase our first house, send our children to school, shop locally and more importantly compromise our plans to retire here.

The ricochet effect would be enormous, more people would be forced to leave the area forcing the drop in local spending and the possible closure of small local businesses. Not to mention the personal trauma that families will face with money struggles - Why anyone with a conscious would be pushing to ruin people's lives and tearing communities apart is beyond me!

We love our community, and the unspoken bond that we all have when it comes to supporting each other!

At the end of the day - We Live Here & We Will Continue To Fight For What Is Right!

I urge that you take the time to read every letter from the opposition, in depth - checking that it's not just a recycled to template to try and outnumber those of us who are literally pleading our cases!

It is our lives that will ultimately be effected, and I truly hope that our future is safe!

I wish to support the Airlie mine extension. Centennial has shown it supports environmental policies. At the same time as producing a much needed source it will enable employment in an area in which has seen little support from companies and the government for its workers. As long as requirements are met I can see no reason in why this project can not proceed. Unless its another government ploy for The Green vote.

I 100% support this submission and cannot fathom the impact of this not going ahead not only on the local community but on mining in Australia in general. Lithgow community has effectively declined due to opposition due to environmental factors. Lithgow has been a strong industrial town dating back whether that be the small arms factory, the steel works, the power stations the mines etc.

These have been the pivotal components that have lead to the expansion of this country town. Take a look around, the mining is sustaining a town currently stunted by growth due to the increasing number of people out of work. More and more people are moving away, small business are shutting and real estate will start to decline with new houses and prices.

In 2011 Lithgow took some big hits with The private hospital closing, airly coal mine and coalpac stopping production. This left the community reeling. So many jobs gone and some just prior to christmas. Many of these guys had to move away from there homes and love ones just to afford their mortgages. These men and women could not find local employment and had to apply for temp work or fly in fly out. Have you been in a situation where your next paycheck will be coming from? Or how you can support your family? How you will give your children the Christmas you know they deserve? The fear of not paying rent or mortgage repayments. Have you ever spoken to the men and women who are depressed having to apply for benefits at centrelink when there fathers and there fathers worked in mining. Have you ever come to Lithgow and discussed the impact on the real people of the town? Not just the environmentalist?!

Let's fast forward to 2014. Wallerawang power station ceased operation and is mothballed. Leaving the future of hundreds of workers and contractors up in the air. This alone has forced contracting companies to lay off staff, more family relocated and that horrible feeling of "what the hell will we do". It's lefts workers to scared to take holidays or sick leave because of the fear that this will be the reasoning of there family not eating. Worried that they won't be offered a role at the sister power station as They're at capacity for staff as it is. Then the devStating news that Coalpac won't be continuing or expanding meaning the men working away from there families have to remain there. This was Rejected on environmental grounds. And honestly it's been an industrial town for how many years. I bet these people use computers and phones. All of which I'm sure is powered by our power stations which are powered by our coal mines. The rock formations are pretty but no one knew they existed before now and for every tourist they MIGHT bring, they're losing so much for the miners that could be here. A miner who earns $100,000 a year help the local economy by supporting them whether it be the local builder, the clothing shops, the butchers and fruit shop, the painters, the grocers, the hairdressers, the restaurant. Lithgow isn't a hot tourist destination. We're not kidding ourselves. A few tourist to see a rock formation will not even meet the Impact of one miner and his family gone.

Keep moving forward to now. To yesterday in fact. Angus place colliery is closing. Just shy of 300 workers there. Can they just be transferred. NO. Families yet again worried about there future, their children, there commitments. It's putting strains on marriages, relationships and friendships.

When the govt sold the power stations, the staff were guaranteed 4yrs of employment. Due to the coalpac expansion not going ahead the future of mt piper is in doubt.

Let's look at the impact of this and potential closes.

Hyperthetically let's pretend the power stations gone, coalpac and angus place gone. Let's also imagine airly gone. This is at least 1000-2000 jobs. Let's assume 1000 just for numbers. These workers come from a family of 3. So 3000 less people in the area. Now the flow on effect will mean the people who service these places the laundromat, the engineering companies, the cleaners, the car dealerships will all face ultimate losses and staff reductions or closures. This then means these family will tighten down and it's the small local business of the town who will suffer. The florist, the builders, the fish and chip shops, the clothing stores, beauticians. It honestly will have horrible consequences for this already struggling town.

This town needs airly to continue. It needs the security and our workers deserve that. Our families deserve this. And our town needs to survive. The greenies will screw over this town before moving on. Mining has a major economical effect on our country. If the greenies get there way Australia will suffer. In an economy already struggling to recover.

Airly coal mine needs to go ahead. Come to Lithgow. Walk the streets. Talk to the real people.

Secure our future and that of our children.

Let's consider the impact of

I work at Airly colliery. I have worked and lived in the Kandos area for the past eight years. In my time I have seen the demise of the cement works and the underground at Charbon colliery which has caused the loss of hundreds jobs in the community. This obviously had a flow on effect for businesses and schools. Airly colliery has been great as it has allowed many of us to stay in the community and have a workplace close enough to promote a good work life balance.

At Airly I have been part of a workforce committed to mining in a sustainable way causing minimal impact to the surface.

The Airly mine extension should be approved as I believe the benefits to the surrounding communities are undeniable and the environmental impacts are minimal.

The Airly Mine has been an important economical benefit to a large area from Lithgow to Kandos and Bathurst. Granting an extension to this environmentally responsible company would go a long way to helping the people of these areas. The managing company have proved in the past to respect any environmental conditions imposed and are expected to do so in the future. There would be no negative impacts on the surrounding area that could or would not be rectified at the end of the term.

I believe that the Airly mine has a huge beneficial impact on the local communities. If the mine was to close, the communities would experience major detrimental effects. Including; population decrease, economic loss and loss of professionals just to name a few.

Being a student myself, I can see the impact that the Centennial Coal company has on the communities and the various small businesses and organisations within them. I know that Centennial sponsor/donate to the local schools. Without this sponsorship the schools would have to withdraw from certain events and the students would experience the effects from the lack of funds.

Centennial also are a major sponsor of the local football team. Without this sponsorship, the team would have to seek extra funding from other sources in order for them to be successful.

The mining industry has a major positive impact on the local communities and without this, the communities wouldn't be the way they are. The mining industry provides resources, jobs, economical boosts, support and funding to the community.

Airy Mine Extension Project
Application Number: SSD 12-5581

I fully support the Airly mine extension project and EIS, I have lived in the local area all my life and have witness the strong support that the mining industry has injected to our local communities and economy. I have also seen first hand how both industrial and farming can effectively work together in our local area in excess of 80 years.

The extension of Airly mine is extremely important to the true local community that has been hit very hard by the closures of the Cement works, Kandos Mine, and the huge reduction of workforce at Charbon Mine that is also set to close completely in late 2015. The community and local businesses strongly rely on the Airly Mine extension approval to provide employment and suability in the local surrounding areas.

Having worked in the Mining industry for almost 20 years I have seen massive improvements in the mining process in regards to environmentally impact, Centennial Coal and their employees are extremely well educated in the proposed mining methods to minimise any potential environmental impact. At the end of the day we are not just miners, we are a very important part of the community that are strong supporters of local services and associations and truly do care about any environmental harm.

I write this submission in support of the project. I have worked at the site and in the district in the past, in environmental management roles. The statistics presented in the EIS and management planning regime support the following comments.

The economic and social impacts of NOT approving this project would be significant locally and regionally. This project is vital to the viability of the Mine as a business employing local people and supporting local contractors and suppliers.

Environmental impact will be minimal.

Current infrastructure is utilised.

Subsidence management mitigation will minimise surface impacts - they will be difficult to measure.

Groundwater management is well covered.

Rehabilitation of a degraded grazing landscape is ongoing and will leave the site in far better condition once mining is completed.

Cumulative impact is minimal, with no further coal mining in the Valley expected. Limestone quarrying is hydrogeologically unrelated.

Thank you for considering this submission.

I strongly support the Airly mine extension application. We all need this type of development in our community, in a work & social sense, for the region to stay alive and viable. Modern coal mining is carried out in an environmentally responsible manner and very well monitored in that respect. The community supports it, Local Government supports it, State Government supports it. Make sure the PAC committee acknowledges this and also supports it. We can't take any more hits, especially with Coalpac/Invincible knocked back and Angus Place shut down. People need do stop and realise that their comfortable lifestyles and amenity are very dependent on our coal mines and electricity production in the Central West.

I would just like to write a few words to support the extension of the Airly Mine.

I am just a regular guy, with very little interest and certainly no financial stake hold in mining of any sort.

What is see is by no means ground breaking but i feel in needs to be said.

What I see is a region stretching far wider than just Lithgow that is affected by a decision like this. The stability of our whole regions economy is tied up in mining, it might not seem like it, but it is. not just the miners and the power stations. So many businesses rely on the money that is generated through the mines. and the cash that flows from this into our communities.

to deny this proposal would be almost certainly create a domino effect that would in quick time force the closure of the Mt piper power station. Some say this is inevitable anyway, however while we have coal, we at least have a fair argument to keep it running also. cut the coal supply and this argument is invalid.

The closure of mines to the lithgow area would not just cripple the community it would destroy it. This decision has far reaching consequences. if we lose the Lithgow mines and power station our regions power costs would certainly rise, and the flow on effects of the job losses and business and industry losses would cripple the region. yep i am probably looking at some worst case scenarios here, but really, if there is even a chance that these consequences could be the rest of a decision like this, who would want to have that decision on their head. If you want to hurt us, I just ask that you have the guts to do it publicly. Whoever votes for this, we want to see your faces in the papers. if you can honestly stand by your decision, without any shame, then have the integrity to show your face to the people whose futures you have in the palm of your hand.

Hope this helps make the right decision.

I support the extension of Airly mine as I believe it is in the interests of the whole community to support the coal mines that have been an integral part of this community and an important contributor to our economy. I believe an overwhelming majority of people who reside in this area are in support of this important project. It seems that the loudest voices in protest at such projects are those who do not even live here and are therefore not immediately affected by what happens. Local residents' submissions should be the ones to be considered.

I support the Airly Mine Extension Proposal SSD 12_5581

I live in the Mid Western LGA at Kandos. I have a young family, my son is a student at Kandos High School, who in the near future will be seeking employment, a partner who is a nurse that works at the local hospital, we support all the local business areas from GP's to grocery stores, service stations.

As I work at this mine and have had 28 years experience in the coal mining industry I can see the mining methods proposed will have very minimal impact on the surrounding areas of Mt Airly.

Airly Mine is also in very strong support of the local Capertee community groups such as Public School, Rural Fire Brigade and the Capertee District Progress Association.

About 75% of the work force live in the Kandos/Rylstone area and their incomes hugely support the business of this area.

Having to boys at the age of 13 & 16 knowing that there is no work for them when the leave school is hard. But not having work for my husband at Airly will be harder. Knowing that our lovely little town of Kandos will DIE!!!! with a lot of family's like mine having to move else where.
Airly may employ over 50 worker's but what about the ones in our town that have employment form the worker's of Airly. I work at the local R.S.L and have been there over 5 year's and if it wasn't for these man coming in and supporting my place of employment I be with at a JOB. And what about the local business

I currently work at the Airly mine project and for this mine not to gain it's approvals because of a few small minded and very uneducated people is a terrible thought. These people really do not know what they are talking about when it comes to the topic of coal mining. Most of them have never stepped foot in a working coal mine to see actually how non detrimental to the environment we actually are and further more are not even from the affected area. For this approval not to go through would have such wide spread ramifications. Not just on Capertee itself but all of the other little surrounding townships. That mine is the backbone and life blood of a lot of those little townships and for it not to get approved, these townships could quite possibly no longer thrive or exist. Families will have to pack up and leave to find employment. I love this community. I've lived here for over 26 years and I don't want to leave and have to find work. So for the small uneducated minority who would love to see this knocked back. Stop and have a think about the lives you're trying to ruin and everyone you're affecting here.

I support the extension of Airly Coal Mine as it provides a large number of jobs within the local region. Recent times have seen job losses in Mining and manufacturing in the area. My husband works at the mine, and he supports his family with earnings. Many of my local friends also work at this mine. Further economic stimulus for the region will be provided if the extension is granted.

I am currently employed as the Commercial Manager at Airly Coal. I express my support for the Airly Mine Extension Project.

I have resided within the district (Rylstone) for the past 30 years and have been employed within the mining industry for the past 8 years.

In March 2014 I was transferred from Charbon to Airly when mining recommenced.

Although the my exposure to Airly Mine has been relative short (8 Months), it has been rewarding to be part of team that has acheived a safe, productive and low cost operation in very difficult times within the industry.

If approved, the project will give continuity of employment for many families within the district when employment prospects are scarce due to the recent closure of the Charbon Underground Mine and the Kandos Cement Works.

The Kandos and Rylstone area has had the misfortune of several industries closing resulting in job losses from Cement Australia and more recently Charbon Underground. We were fortunate you might say that many (not all) of the Charbon employees were assisted with jobs at Airly Underground. Both my husband and son are employed at Airly, as are many other locals with families to support. If the extension for Airly is not granted, there will be major impacts on families such as as ours. The impacts will be significant and include:

- major unemployment,
- families faced with financial hardship,
- forced house sales - lowering real estate values, increasing vacancy rates among rentals
- potential for increased mental health illnesses such as stress, depression, anxiety and suicidal ideation &
- loss of valuable community support (Centennial sponsors numerous sporting teams and events within the local community)

As a result of such impacts, many families will be forced to relocate in search of employment, resulting in:

- a genuine economic downturn for the Rylstone and Kandos communities & business houses &
- loss of already scarce professionals who are married to coal miners such as teachers, and nurses.

Please give strong consideration to approving the extension of Airly. The employees and the company are committed to being as efficient, low impact, safe and environmentally aware during all aspects of operations.

This is the livelihood of many people and families. Keep Airly open!

If you close Airly you close our towns and communities.

I have been part of the Kandos/Rylstone community for about 30 years, the district has a lot of natural beauty but is desperate for industries which provide substantial employment such as Airly Mine. I was very pleased to read in the submission that the mine has improved its mining practices to help protect the environment. I know that coal is being targeted by political activist, but I agree with Tony Abbot that coal is good for Australia, at this time. As renewable technologies become more reliable and cost effective then it makes sense to lessen our carbon footprint. At this present time coal is still the cheapest, most efficient form of energy. I fully support the operations of Airly Mine.

I am in favour of the Airly Coal Mine extension. I have been involved in coal mining in this district for the last 28 years. I began at Charbon Colliery in 1986, I went to Ulan Coal in 1996 for 7 years, then returned to Charbon in 2003 and remained there until its closure in 2014, I commenced at Airly in March 2014. I know firsthand how hard the management and workforce work to protect the environment and to have as small an impact as possible. The mining methods at Airly are strictly adhered to and strata management is always maintained. As a local resident, and currently Pastoring a church in Kandos I know how important the employment Airly mine provides to the district. In recent years the Kandos/Rylstone district has been adversely affected by the closure of major industries like the Cement Works and Charbon Colliery and the reopening of Airly Mine has given the district fresh hope. Many families and businesses, directly and indirectly rely on the success of Airly Mine.

Airly mine is a important part of the comunity it provides great job opertunities in a community with little job opportunity.

I am employed at the mine and reside in nearby Kandos with my wife and 2 children who go to school here. Kandos has already suffered job losses with cement Australia cosing its doors putting over 100 out of work and the local open cut coal mine due to close mid 2015 wich would put a further 70 people out of work. No need what this has done to a community of approximately 2000 people.

I have seen first hand how environmentaly committed the mine is employing a team of environmentalists and regular training of staff on environmentalal issues.

I hope for the sake of the comunity and for mine and many familys that this proposal goes ahead and provides opertunitys for employment for a comunity that is suffering for no reason.

I fully support the Airly Mine Extension Project based upon the following:

As the Manager of Airly Coal Mine I recognise and appreciate the unique opportunity provided by the Airly Project to demonstrate to all stakeholders that an optimal balance between resource recovery and responsible environmental management can be achieved.

Core values shared by employees at Airly include safe, efficient mining practices, ensuring minimal environmental impact, co existing with neighbours and partnering with the community whilst maximising economic opportunity.

The range of extensive technical studies and generated reports covering recognised potential social and environmental impacts include surface subsidence, terrestrial ecology, surface and groundwater, heritage, air quality, visual amenity, noise, traffic , bushfire and landuse clearly define the sensitivity of the Airly and Genowlan Mountain complex.

Armed with this knowledge Centennial Coal and in particular Airly employees are committed to operating in accordance with a geotechnically engineered mine design specifying an appropriate pillar system factor of safety calculation for both minimal subsidence impact and long term stability.

Airly has gained significant benefit from employing from our Charbon Mine, experienced and skilled employees familiar with this mining system and processes and who posses an awareness of the importance of maintaining high standards of operational compliance and thereby meeting the expectations of the local community in terms of environmental performance.

Until safe, viable alternatives are found we must rely on coal mining to supply coal for power generation. In my view those who oppose the extension to the mine are standing in the way of progress and potentially causing a rise in the cost of power to families already struggling. There is also the issue of job losses for those who work for the mine and those who depend on them. These are jobs that allow families to live and grow in regional areas that may well otherwise be dependent on tourism and farming, neither of which is a reliable source of income. Coal mining has been taking place all over the world for many years. The environmental impact of a coal mine is relatively insignificant compared to a nuclear "accident". I believe we must continue to mine coal.

I am a regular visitor to the beautiful Capertee Valley and mining has been going on in the area for many years.

In my opinion there has been no impact on the environment as a result of mining.

Families depend on the mine for jobs and the local businesses do also.

As a wife of an Airly Coal mine employee I am writing in support of the Airly Coal mine Extension Project.

We live in Kandos and have done so for most of our lives. Kandos had a Cement works which closed a couple of years ago which left a lot of people without employment. Kandos is situated a little off the beaten track and has struggled over the years to keep the workforce in the town which in turn keeps families here. When Charbon Colliery closed many men made the decision to stay living in Kandos and travel to Airly mine each day for work. This in turn keeps our little country town operational. To lose any further workforce if the Airly Extension project is not approved would be the death of our small little corner of the world.

Centennial coal have always been most generous in their contributions to our community, having served on a number of committees and asking for donations they have always helped with funding.

I hope that this extension project is approved to allow our little community to survive.

Yours sincerely
Dianne Munday

This letter is in support for the Airly Mine Extension Program. I have been employed in the local underground coal mining industry for all of my working life for the past 37 years around the Lithgow and Charbon areas, having worked for the Centennial Coal Company since they were formed at Ivanhoe, Charbon, Clarence and Airly Collieries. I have found Centennial Coal to be a company that genuinely cares about their employees and are very conscious about environmental impacts and community affairs and provide support for local community groups such as Rylstone Kandos ADA Cottage, Rylstone District Hospital, Capertee Public School, Capertee Rural Fire Service, Capertee & District Progress Association to name a few as well as Centennial Coal supporting and sponsoring the local Centennial Coal Cup Rugby League competition.

The re-opening of Airly Mine has provided a lifeline for myself and many other families. With the closure of the Charbon underground mine due to the depletion of coal resources the majority of the workforce that resides around the Kandos/Rylstone and outlying area were given employment at Airly mine. Our local area is still coming to terms with the closure of the Kandos Cement works and being a small close knit community any loss of employment deals our community a cruel blow as these people all support local businesses, sporting clubs, education. We all have a very strong community spirit and pride with many of these employees being second and third generation families in our area with very strong ties to the region.

Underground coal mining provides a major employment opportunity in this are and surrounding district. An end to this source of employment would have devastating effects and flow on effects to families, businesses and community groups within our region.

Having worked for Centennial for so many years I have witnessed their commitment to environment, community and employee welfare and am proud to work for them and hope to be able to continue to work for them with the Airly Mine Extension Project.

Yours sincerely
Raymond Munday

My name is Karen Norris. I am a permanent resident of Capertee , I currently work for Strike Force, a cleaning company that contracts to Airly mine. I have worked there for over 3y now even when it was on care n maintenance.

I also own a property at the near by town of Cullen Bullen, witch is currantly rented to a Airly mine worker, my son also works at the mine. So as you can see my life would be changed dramaticly if the mine were to close.

Not only would I lose my home and workplace that I love. My son would lose his too.

Please don't close our mine it is part of our community without it our little school and our only shop would close.

Regards Karen Norris

I support the Airly Mine Extension Project as it will help to secure local jobs. I don't work directly in the mining industry but my brother does and my parents own a business in the township of Rylstone where many of the Airly Mine workforce reside. This mine indirectly supports many of the small surrounding towns. Without this extension hundreds of jobs will be at risk including those who work in small businesses in the surrounding towns.

I strongly support the Airly Mine project & commend its financial owners, management, workers & environment team for operating this coal mine efficiently with methods designed to have minor impact on the area, demonstrating all care & respect for the local environment.

This operations financial contribution to the Capertee Rural fire Service, Capertee Public School, Capertee Progress Association & locally independantly owned businesses is vital for their survival.

Employing 135 jobs in an area already with high un-employment. These workers are contributing to society, the community & economy.

I have been in the mining industry for 5 years, 9 months of that has been at Airly Mine. Those 5 years of experience I've never seen a mine operate with such a low environmental impact and a work force with a possitivte attitude towards safety, cleanliness the environemnt and the community.

Airly is not just economically important to its location (Capertee) but to other surrounding towns and cities such as Kandos, Rylstone, Lithgow, Wallerawang and Bathurst Each employee a treasure to his/her local community and surrounding.

With Airly Expanding this would provide 135 much needed jobs over the next 25 years and prevent families and communities suffering from unemployment.

Airlys Extension is Vital and with a workforce trained for a environmental individual commitment to a group effort that is what makes a team work, a company work, a society work, a civilisation work.

I hope my submission helps towards Airlys extension and the next 25 years of employment and economic success.

Being a 50 year resident and close personal neighbour of the mine, and now a tenant of Centennial Coal with close relations employed by Airly Coal, I offer my support for approval for the extension application. Having had a mining lease and a pastoral lease over much of the Genowlan Mountain area since 1961, I have a long established relationship and knowledge of this area. I have raised my four children in the Capertee area and they have attended the local school, I am lucky enough to have two of my children still living within the township and have some of my grandchildren now attend the school.

Being a conservationist and having an interest in preserving the local area including Airly Village, through consultation with Lithgow City Council's Heritage Group it was planned for myself to oversee the partial restoration of suitable old structures utilising free labour of weekend detainees from Bathurst Gaol, a plan that was unfortunately voided by the National Parks and Wildlife Service with declaration of the Mugii Murum-Ban State Conservation Area. Since the first road/track construction in 1967 we have been aware of the possible removal of the beautiful trees and bushrock in this area, we were advised by Lands Department in Orange to leave the incredibly tight switchbacks near Pappys Pass to deter any logging in the future. In 2003 in conjunction with the Lands Department and myself, a fence and gate were constructed across Genowlan Mountain to protect the endangered plant the Genowlan pultenea. I have also a vested interest in Local Aboriginal history and have spent a lot of time researching and have located an extremely rare Aboriginal quarry and ochre pits. This attitude of conservation is echoed by the hundreds of visitors to this area including the Local Wiradjuri people, Scouts, Army cadets, Orienteering groups, Geological students, Geocaching groups, Bird watchers, Hang gliders, School excursion groups, four wheel drive users as well as many other groups that have enjoyed this location and who share this vision of protecting this beautiful place while still being available for all, including the elderly and the disabled, to access and enjoy the pristine scenery.

With the continued upgrade, maintenance and extensions to the road/ track network courtesy of Airly Coal through this magnificent scenic country we have anywhere from 800 to 1000 four wheel drives visiting yearly. Having discussed this coal mine with many of these people very few have objected, all agree to the simple proviso that it must be looked after. Many of these are repeat visitors over 20 years and their opinion must be very valid as they have feet on ground experience for many years unlike most of the un-informed "duplicated letter opponents" that are used as pawns for self-serving protest greenie groups.

In the early 1970's declaration of a National Park had a devastating effect on local towns; Ilford, a town previously with two cafes/service stations now has none, Glen Davis- formally a town with a service station as well as a general store, Capertee had two garages and two general stores and a thriving timber industry. K.Ford the timber man had to close with a total 69 timber related jobs lost, this also had a roll on negative effect of the communities of Kandos and Rylstone.

In the late 1970's and early 1980's, coal exploration was carried out employing approximately 10 locals including myself, this money was spent locally, work included drilling off-siding and extensive road building. In 1987 there was the opening of a trial mine, followed by a Boxcut in 2000. With the commissioning in 2009 of the current mine, a great surge of optimism returned to the community with employment opportunities and the natural follow on with ancillary services, such as contractors, cleaners, earth moving contractors and local businesses including the local hotel and garage. During this time Airly Coal and its contractors supported the Capertee Public School, The Capertee Fire Brigade, Capertee and District Progress Association as well as businesses in the town both financially and practically. Kandos, Rylstone and Lithgow also all benefited from this activity, with raised employment opportunities and increased money in the local economy, unfortunately economic factors caused a shut down and the moth balling of the mine. Since the reopening of Airly Mine in March 2014 the community, especially the Kandos and Rylstone areas (who have suffered greatly in recent times with the closure of the Cement Works and Charbon Colliery) have a great relief. To date expenditure on the Airly Mine has been over $150 million dollars.

I have had personal dealings with various community groups over many years and one in particular that I have been a member of for approximately for about 5 years is the Capertee Valley Alliance (CVA). This group was set up for the betterment of the valley to lobby for safer and better roads, better community facilities and with such things as the recent excellent upgrading of Pearsons Lookout. It was not set up as a voice for commercial environmental groups such as the Colong Foundation and Blue Mountains Conservation Group, with their flock of duplicated "sign here and post" your long held convictions, to protest for the mostly retired non-permanent residents whom seem in discussions to have little comprehension of the industry. My outspoken criticism of the "economic greenie" lack of interest in the truth can be verified by apologies to me still on the internet.

I consider the only harmful effect of this mine was the taking the grazing ground of three hungry horses. I fully support the Centennial Coal's Airly Mine Extension plan, as I believe that our district and country needs this.

I am a long time resident of Capertee and have lived in the area most of my life. The area that Centennial Coal is proposing to mine in this application is directly under the mountain and land that our family have called home for longer than I have been alive. My brother, sisters and I all grew up in the area and spent every weekend on and around Genowlan and Airly Mountain, now called Mugii Murum-Ban State Conservation Area and now a majority of it like the back of our hands so to speak. After reading the EIS and seeing first hand the work that is being conducted by Airly Coal, I do have some reservations, but trust the planned methods for the low impact mining that is proposed in this location, to protect our beautiful backyard.

My entire primary school education was at Capertee Public School and I also had my son who is now 18 attend for his entire primary education. I have one daughter currently attending the school, and will have another entering kindergarten in 2015.

My husband is employed by Centennial Coal at the Airly site as an electrician, and we have been through the roller coaster of Airly closing, being redeployed to Charbon Colliery and then being redeployed once again when Charbon closed back to Airly.

Centennial Coal have been very open and understanding with the Capertee community with regular meetings, ongoing updates as well as being available to answer any questions, no matter how stupid. My children have directly benefited from the coal mine, participating in a music program at the Capertee Public School funded by Airly Coal. They have also provided an information sign for the school as well as new technology.

They have provided various types of support and help to our community organisations, such as cash donations for our Community Christmas Party, physical and practical support with electrical wiring, concrete and termite protection on our community hall. This type of support is invaluable to our school and community which have very few options of support and very little money due to the small size of our community.

I remember reading the original EIS in 1994 and have since had the opportunity to learn a bit more about coal mining. I have also read this EIS and am impressed with quality of work and research that has been put in by Centennial Coal.

I have seen first hand the Centennial Coal drilling sites and was impressed with their level of rehabilitation.

The employment provided with this extension will help sustain not only Capertee, but other locations such as Kandos, Rylstone and Lithgow. I fully support the Centennial Coal Airly Mine Extension and have experienced no issues with the current operations and can see nothing but benefits from continued operations.

The Lithgow district and the Capertee community needs this extension to be approved.

I live at Kandos. I have a young family, my son is a student at Kandos High School, who in the near future will be seeking employment, and a husband who works at Airly Mine.

Approximately 75% of the employees that work at the Airly Mine live in the Kandos/Rylstone district and their income supports the business of this area, some of which include Doctors, Rylstone Hospital, 4 Schools, Grocery stores, Service Stations, Banks, Sporting Groups and various other small businesses.

The future of Airly Mine is critical to the local community not only on an economic level but from a cultural and community stand point. With the recent decision to suspend mining at Angus Place Colliery and the global downturn in the mining sector it is imperative that the community receive 'Good news' stories. The re-opening of Airly Mine allowing the continued employment of the Charbon Mine workforce has re-invigorated the communities of Kandos, Rylstone and Lithgow. Moreover the secured future of Airly Mine provides Lithgow residents with some hope for the future, needless to say at some stage the mine will require more employees and can quite easily accomodate expanded production should the extension be granted and the economic climate improve.

The creation of jobs in the local government area must be a major priority at this time or the impact upon the Lithgow community could be devastating sending Lithgow spiralling into an economic downturn that I fear could destroy a town built for decades on heavy industry and steeped in tradition and history. In recent times the local government has been very proactive in promoting local business and it is very encouraging to see the transformation of the main street in Lithgow with once empty shops now opened again and trading successfully. We simply must keep this trend and allow local children the opportunity to stay in Lithgow and gain employment, the alternative spells the end.

Airly Mine's current and indeed future mining methods are designed to have very low impact on the environment and no discernable impact has been recorded from operations to date. This fits in well with the conservation values of the Mugii Murum-Ban State Conservation Area that the mine currently operates in.

Airly Mine is a very strong supporter of the local community ad supports groups such as Capertee Public School, Capertee Rural Fire Service and the Capertee and District Progress Association. My involvement in the local community encompasses almost 30 years supporting local sporting associations both cricket and hockey, having coached literally thousands of young and mature athletes. I am now a High Performance Coach with Hockey NSW a job which allows me to travel the country coaching children and young adults, with the blessing and support of my current employer Centennial Coal, a role that I would be forced to relinquish should my employment cease.

this application has been brought to my attention by a close friend, and frankly i don't see why there's even a debate.

approving this application will help our local economy grow and move forward, rather than the slow recession it has been enduring.

without this 170+ jobs are lost. i know whole families that are supported by these jobs, close personal friends that rely on the work to survive.

what kind of system would even consider cutting the foundation of a community out like that?

no, if we want our economy to move forward we must approve.

people are probably worried about the environmental damage, which is a fair concern. but it does very clearly state the rehabilitation will commence at the completion of the project.

the way i hear it, this is only opposed because there are some very old rocks in the area, which are very pretty to look at. what use is a few pretty and aged rocks if the economy crashes and the people are gone? maybe that rabbits can sunbake on them.

Now i know that it would be more serious than that. we do need to preserve what does not need to be senselessly destroyed. but this is not senseless.

allowing this is a massive boost for the local community. we will grow and progress, instead of slowly fail and crumble.

so what possible reason is there to disallow this?

Airly mine is very important, not only for myself and my family but also for many other families within the area.

I am very fortunate to be employed at Airly mine and hope to be for as many years as possible. Without Airly mine I am certain that my family and I would have to sell up and relocate as there is very limited jobs available within our area, with the closing of many local businesses like Kandos Cement Works, Charbon Coal mine and Ironwood saw mill.

As an employee of Airly mine I know that the proposed mining methods are designed to have a very low impact, as this method of mining is in practice at the moment.

I have also been involved in sporting teams sponsored by Centennial Coal and without their support it would not have got off the ground. The local community values the support they are given.

I feel that without Airly mine our towns and communities would struggle meaning the possibility of increased mental health issues.

Many professionals such as teachers and nurses are married to Airly coal miners, I know this first hand as my wife is an SLSO at Kandos Public School, and if they have to relocate then our community will lose said skill base as well.

Airly mine has a major impact on my families future, it is a very important part of our lives and hope that it stays that way.

Yours sincerely

Coal miner

I have work in the coal industry for the last 15 years & started at Airly in March 2014. Since being at Airly I have not seen a coal mine that is not more aware of its impact on the local environment & its commitment to have as minor impact as possible.

Airly coal not only employs around 60 people (which is very valuable for the community) it is also a strong supporter of local events.

I am writing in support of the Airly mine Extension project.

I have lived in the Kandos area for the majority of my life and have strong links to the area through family and friends and hope to maintain this association. Airly Mine is currently one of the largest employers in the towns of Kandos and Rylstone and if the extension is not granted the impact on the two towns may be devastating. Employment opportunities in the area has suffered in recent years with the closure of the cement factory and Charbon colliery. Without the extension being granted local schools, the hospital and other services will be affected.

Kandos has recently had its 100 year celebration and I think if the Airly mine extension is granted it will help the town to remain to be a viable place to live and set the community on the path towards their 200 year celebration.

I support the project for the Airly Mine Extension Project to continue underground coal mining in their current mining lease ML 1331 and carry out future mining in their current exploration area A232.

The Mugii Murum-ban State Conservation Area is ecologically and visually a spectacular region. The mining method developed is a superb example of how underground coal mining and environmental protection can co-exist and that mining can be carried out with the end purpose of protecting significant surface features. The mining method has been developed with both avoidance and minimisation of environmental impacts in mind.

The partial extraction mining method has been tried and tested for numerous years at Centennial Coal's Clarence Colliery, with negligible impacts occurring to the surface features of the Wollangambe wilderness' cliff lines, pagoda formations and groundwater and surface water systems.

The identification of potential environmental impacts and the environmental assessment developed has been both proficient and thorough and the partial extraction mine design has been expertly developed to allow coal extraction whilst still minimising these potential impacts.

With further mine closures in the western coal fields due to the down turn in coal and electricity markets and the rejection of project applications based on impacts to the community and environment, the Airly Mine Extension Project, if approved, will be a astonishing example that underground coal mining can not only be productive and safe but at the same time avoid and minimise impacts to the environment and the community.

The approval of this project will be a win-win all round with Centennial Coal's partial extraction methods that have a proven history in previously mined areas in the western coal fields.

I am in full support of all facets of the Airly Coal Mine Project and hope after careful consideration of the project that continued mining at Airly Mine is approved.

I am in support of the Airly Mine Extension Project for a number of reasons. Firstly I am currently an employee of this mine and have been for the past 8 months and prior to that was an employee of Centennial Coal for two and a half years, this mine currently provides employment to 60 local workers, and because the local community relies heavily on the mine workers of the district to keep small businesses and schools financial.

Centennial Coal is one of the areas biggest employers. Generations of people have raised their families here and have helped to build the local economy to the point it is today.

It has come as a huge shock to learn that Angus Place, the biggest mine in the district, has just been put under care and maintenance resulting in a job loss of over 260 men and women, right after the announcement of the Cullen Valley and Coal-Pac extension rejections.

With the approval of this extension at Airly Mine, more local jobs are created, families remain in the local area, and the local community continues to thrive like it has done in recent years.

As an employee of Airly I know first hand that the mining methods used at Airly cause no surface subsidence, it is the cleanest and driest underground mine in the area and as a result of the location it does not disturb any water tables in the Airly and Genowlan Mountains. It poses no threat to the natural environment or the Pagoda rock formations.

The pit top infrastructure has already been established, there are brand new bath house amenities and offices to cater up to 170 underground employees, and approval of this extension will help to see a lot of the recent local job losses absorbed back into the mining industry.

No mines = no Lithgow
No jobs = no community

The community has suffered enough recently due to mine closures and approval rejections, we dont need any more.

Approve this project and save a district

The Airly Mine extension approval will be pivotal to the sustainability of the local area. The community supports mining and in turn the approval for extension will support the community by potentially creating jobs, or at least long term employment for the current employees.

I would very much like add my support to the Airly Mine Extension Project. As a resident within the Capertee Community, it is my belief that Airly Mine is a vital part of the town, it provides much needed jobs, these jobs keep people in the area that would not otherwise be able to stay, it also boosts the schools enrollments. As a parent with 3 children at Capertee Public School, and another due to start in 2016 I feel it's important to keep the mine open and prevent enrollment numbers from falling, as being such a small school this is a very important issue. I also feel that Centennial Coal has been generous with their support of the Capertee School over the years. I believe the the Capertee Community will benefit if the Extension project goes ahead.
