Dear Mr Christensen,

Thank you for your letter dated 02/09/2015 to the Office of Environment and Heritage (OEH) regarding obtaining a list of the Aboriginal stakeholders that may have an interest in the proposed development at University of Sydney (City of Sydney LGA).

Before making an application for the issue of an Aboriginal Heritage Impact Permit, the applicant must carry out an Aboriginal community consultation process in accordance with the National Parks and Wildlife Regulation 2009 and completed to the stage described in subclause 80C.

Please find attached the list of Aboriginal stakeholders known to OEH that may have an interest in the project. OEH's list of regional stakeholders is a list of groups, organisations or individuals who may hold cultural knowledge relevant to a proposal in a region. Contact details are correct as at the time of registration. Consultation with Aboriginal people should not be confused with employment. Inclusion on the OEH's list is not an automatic right to employment. It is the decision of a proponent on who they choose to engage to deliver services based on a range of considerations including skills, relevant experience, and WHS considerations. To be clear, the proponent is under no obligation to employ Aboriginal people registered for consultation.

Further, receipt of this information does not remove the requirement of a proponent/consultant to advertise in local print media and contact other bodies seeking interested Aboriginal parties. Consultation with Aboriginal stakeholders must be in accordance with the Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Consultation Requirements for Proponents 2010 which can be found on the Office of Environment and Heritage (OEH) public website by accessing the following link:

<http://www.environment.nsw.gov.au/resources/cultureheritage/commconsultation/09781ACHconsultreq.pdf>

If you wish to discuss any of the above matters further please contact Fran Scully, Archaeologist, on (02) 9995 6830. Please note the change of mailing address below.

Yours sincerely

LIST OF ABORIGINAL STAKEHOLDERS FOR THE METROPOLITAN/NORTH SHORE/NORTHERN BEACHES LGA'S HELD BY OEH FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE ABORIGINAL CULTURAL HERITAGE CONSULTATION REQUIREMENTS FOR PROPONENTS 2010

These lists are provided to proponents in accordance with section 4.1.2 of the Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Consultation Requirements for Proponents 2010 (the "Consultation Requirements") which commenced on 12 April 2010.

The consultation process involves getting the views of, and information from, Aboriginal people and reporting on these. It is not to be confused with other field assessment processes involved in preparing a proposal and an application. Consultation does not include the employment of Aboriginal people to assist in field assessment and/or site monitoring. Aboriginal people may provide services to proponents through a contractual arrangement however, this is separate from consultation. The proponent is not obliged to employ those Aboriginal people registered for consultation. Consultation as per these requirements will continue irrespective of potential or actual employment opportunities for Aboriginal people.

<http://www.environment.nsw.gov.au/resources/cultureheritage/commconsultation/09781ACHconsultreq.pdf>.

Under the Consultation Requirements; a proponent is required to provide Aboriginal people who hold cultural knowledge relevant to determining the cultural significance of Aboriginal objects and/or places as relevant to the proposed project area, with an opportunity to be involved in consultation. Section 3.3.1 of the Consultation Requirements states that Aboriginal people who can provide this information are, based on Aboriginal lore and custom, the traditional owners or custodians of the land that is the subject of the proposed project.

The Consultation Requirements also state that:

Traditional owners or custodians with appropriate cultural heritage knowledge to inform decision making who seek to register their interest as an Aboriginal party are those people who:

- continue to maintain a deep respect for their ancestral belief system, traditional lore and custom
- recognise their responsibilities and obligations to protect and conserve their culture and heritage and care for their traditional lands or Country
- have the trust of their community, knowledge and understanding of their culture, and permission to speak about it.

Please note: the placement an organisation's name on any OEH Aboriginal stakeholder list for the Consultation Requirements does not override a proponent's requirement to also advertise in the local newspaper and to seek from other sources the names of any other Aboriginal people who may hold cultural knowledge as required under clause 80C of the National Parks and Wildlife Regulation 2009.

Searching the NNTT Registers in New South Wales

Search service

On request the National Native Title Tribunal may search its public registers for you. A search may assist you in finding out whether any native title applications (claims), determinations or agreements exist over a particular area of land or water.

In New South Wales native title cannot exist on privately owned land including family homes or farms.

What information can a search provide?

A search can confirm whether any applications, agreements or determinations are registered in a local government area. Relevant information, including register extracts and application summaries, will be provided.

In NSW because we cannot search the registers in relation to individual parcels of land we search by local government area.

Most native title applications do not identify each parcel of land claimed. They have an external boundary and then identify the areas not claimed within the boundary by reference to types of land tenure e.g., freehold, agricultural leasehold, public works.

What if the search shows no current applications?

If there is no application covering the local government area this only indicates that at the time of the search either the Federal Court had not received any claims in relation to the local government area or the Tribunal had not yet been notified of any new native title claims.

It does not mean that native title does not exist in the area.

Native title may exist over an area of land or waters whether or not a claim for native title has been made.

Where the information is found

The information you are seeking is held in three registers and on an applications database.

National Native Title Register

The National Native Title Register contains determinations of native title by the High Court, Federal Court and other courts.

Register of Native Title Claims

The Register of Native Title Claims contains applications for native title that have passed a registration test.

Registered claims attract rights, including the right to negotiate about some types of proposed developments.

Register of Indigenous Land Use Agreements

The Register of Indigenous Land Use Agreements contains agreements made with people who hold or assert native title in an area.

The register identifies development activities that have been agreed by the parties.

Schedule of Native Title Applications

The Schedule of Native Title Applications contains a description of the location, content and status of a native title claim.

This information may be different to the information on the Register of Native Title Claims, e.g., because an amendment has not yet been tested.

How do I request a native title search?

Dear Nathan,

AHMS is undertaking an Aboriginal Heritage Impact Assessment (AHIA) at the University of Sydney, for the University of Sydney, ahead of their planned redevelopment there.

As part of this AHIA we are initiating Aboriginal consultation in accordance with OEH guidelines. As part of this process, we are required to contact relevant parties to identify potential Aboriginal stakeholders in the area, with whom we should consult on the project. Can you please provide such information as soon as possible – I have attached a letter elaborating further.

Thanks,

I refer to your letter of 2 September 2015 regarding the above matter.

We acknowledge that section 4.1.2 of the Office of Environment & Heritage's Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Consultation Requirements for Proponents 2010 require you to contact us in order to compile a list of Aboriginal people who may have an interest in the proposed project area and hold knowledge relevant to determining the cultural significance of Aboriginal objects and/or places.

Dear Alan

Aboriginal Land Claim (ALC) Search

I refer to your email dated 23 September 2015 to search the Register of Aboriginal Land Claims database in relation to land described by you as, please see attached list.

I have searched the database and the subject land described by you does not appear on the Register as being affected by an ALC pursuant to sections 36 or 37 of the Aboriginal Land Rights Act 1983.

I note that land across NSW with older land descriptors such as "portion, REF & TSR" may have been allotted new descriptors as part of the Crown Conversion Project and many land parcels now have "Lot & DP" numbers. The ALC database lists the land descriptor at the date of lodgement and as such may not include an updated land descriptor. If this may affect the land that you've described, we advise that you contact the Aboriginal Land Claims Investigation Unit on (02) 8236 7011.

Hi Alan

I am writing in regards to the email received from Ben 23rd September for the AHIA at the University of Sydney and hereby would like to register Metropolitan Local Aboriginal Land Council's interest in the project.

As the Metropolitan Local Aboriginal Land Council is the legislative representative body responsible for the protection and promotion of Aboriginal culture and heritage within its boundaries, and at this stage, as there are no Native Title holders within that area, I advise that we are the custodians of all lands that lie within MLALC's boundary.

As the Culture and Heritage Officer and representative for MLALC I would like to have full involvement in the community consultation process as well as any field work that includes site assessment, ground disturbance and excavation activities.

For any further information and updates please contact me directly via email or phone.

LOST RAGAS

JAMIE APPS

Before heading out into the vast desert mountains of the Flinders Ranges, Matt Walker of Lost Ragas spoke with City Hub about the band's upcoming busy tour schedule.

Matt was in extremely high spirits ahead of his week-long trek, and hopes that while out there he will find inspiration and return recharged for the tour: "I'm actually in the middle of getting my pack together and sorting out my food. I've done a bit of hiking and camping before but this is another level, we're (Matt's son and some of his own friends) hiking for five or six days and sleeping out under the stars. Then I come back and a day later I start doing gigs, I'll either be really refreshed or half dead and malnourished," he said laughingly.

Lost Ragas initially came together a somewhat of a side project for Matt and Shane Reilly but they instantly found a connection that saw them bringing in Roger Borgdax and Simon Bourke to tour together, which organically shifted into a more collective band feel. "We're all a similar age and have been playing for a long time, so we're all pretty established in what we do, so when something clicks and feels right it's pretty obvious from the start," said Matt.

The story of the band's evolution into essentially the 'main project' for the four members is extremely interesting. When Matt initially approached Roger and Simon he had actually expected them to be playing different instruments than what they actually wound up playing for the band. Roger was originally intended to be the drummer but when asked to join was "really digging bass", and Simon who is usually a Hammond organ player and singer had coincidentally been enjoying playing drums at home, so everything fell into place neatly. "Part of the reason we've stuck together so tightly and why it feels so good is because everybody is doing something they really want to do, and in their cases it's playing a second instrument they don't usually play, so they're enjoying the challenge and freshness that brings," said Matt.

Even though his gruelling trek was foremost on his mind (purely because of its imminence), Matt was clearly just as excited to hit the road with the band after taking a brief time off, as he described the band's excitement levels: "We love playing live and do so regularly. If we don't play anywhere for a month or so we actually get a bit unsettled, so we're really looking forward to all of our gigs." (JA)

OH WONDER - OH WONDER

The opening third of Oh Wonder's debut self-titled album kicks things off in fantastic fashion with some extremely catchy dreamy electronic pop songs, sadly though the magic falls away sharply from there.

Perhaps it was the unorthodox release method chosen by the duo, where they released each individual track month by month before unveiling the full record. After the first five tracks it seems they found a successful formula and tried hard to duplicate that, making the remainder of the album too blurred and simplistic. (JA)

WILDING - MOLECULES TO MOONS

Molecules to Moons has a deliciously nostalgic vibe to it, reminiscent of many years past. It is bouncy and upbeat without being tinny or thin - bringing the sixties back and revamping them for our musically saturated age. Wilding's flowy psychedelic beats move steadily and with some force into the brain. They filter downwards through the body, covering the muscles, trailing through the veins, and eventually pooling around the heart. The sound fills the listener up, reaching up into the muscles of the mouth, building foundations under the smiles corners. Each song is short and should be listened to in a group to keep this music's liquid glow alive in the listener. This music is beautiful, it is really fun and it is affecting, it will leave a lasting memory in the whole body long after it is turned off. (SP)

NOTIFICATION OF ABORIGINAL HERITAGE IMPACT ASSESSMENT, AND INVITATION FOR REGISTRATIONS OF INTEREST - UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY, DARLINGTON AND CAMPERDOWN CAMPUSES

The University of Sydney is proposing to undertake an Aboriginal Heritage Impact Assessment (AHIA) to inform the redevelopment of six future Campus Improvement Program (CIP) precincts around the University of Sydney. Contact details for the proponent are: Ian Kelly, E: ian.kelly@sydney.edu.au, P: 02 9351 2222.

Registrations are invited from Aboriginal individuals and organisations, who may hold cultural knowledge for the area relevant to determining the significance of Aboriginal objects and/or places and who wish to be involved in the community consultation process.

The purpose of the Aboriginal community consultation is to assist in preparing the AHIA for the project area, and obtaining Aboriginal Heritage Impact Permits if required.

Registrations of interest should be provided by no later than OCTOBER 15, 2015 to ALAN WILLIAMS at AHMS, by: Phone: (02) 9555 4000, Fax: (02) 9555 7005

University of Sydney - Campus Improvement Program Methodology.

EXTENT Heritage Pty Ltd has used a very UN -professional approach in the consultation process when dealing with the Aboriginal stake holders. Alan Williams needs to understand that it is Aboriginal culture and not his culture. The guide lines are quite clear on the community consultation process. AAS has been instructed to lodge an official complaint on behalf of the newly combined Elders Group which is collectively corresponding on all heritage matters.

The Aboriginal community has had enough of heritage advisers like Alan Williams making (desk top) decisions on Aboriginal culture and adopting the mission manager mentality approach when dealing with Aboriginal communities. The recommendation from the community is that the community consultation is conducted in the manner with which it was intended, or an alternative is to seek a legal determination under the act.

Aboriginal Archaeology Service is seeking primary involvement in all consultation meetings and fieldwork for the above mentioned project. AAS immediate family has lived in the area from 1897 and retains local and oral history on behalf of its first nation people. We have no objection to our information being provided to the Office of Environment and Heritage and the Local Aboriginal Land Council.

AAS is able to assist with input that can be incorporated into a written assessment of cultural values of the area. We are also able to provide fit staff to assist with work that may involve physical labour. We can provide our schedule of rates and copies of relevant certificates of currency for business insurances on request.

All correspondence should be emailed to AAS.info@bigpond.com or to the above postal address. The area is an important part of our culture and valued by our family.

Yours truly

Andrew Williams

Dear Alan,

RE: University of Sydney – Camperdown and Darlington Campuses

Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Assessment Report

Darug Land Observations Pty Ltd has reviewed the proposed Aboriginal Heritage Impact Assessment Draft Report, and supports the methodology for the proposed six precincts across the Camperdown and Darlington campuses as part of the Campus improvement program.

In relation to the long-term storage of recovered artefacts, if any, Darug Land Observations Pty Ltd strongly believes that the recovered artefacts should be re-buried on Country (the study area).

Darug Land Observations Pty Ltd would like to receive a copy of the Section 90 Aboriginal Heritage Impact Permit (AHIP).

Furthermore, Darug Land Observations Pty Ltd would be involved in the monitoring of the top soil removal and all other form of works to be carried out on the site.

Yours sincerely,

Jamie Workman

It was then subject to an excavation under a s87 Permit (AHIMS# 2153, issued on 11.7.05). Seven 1m x 1m test pits were excavated - first using a back hoe to penetrate the overburden (which was between 0.5-1.6m deep, levelling the natural slope); and then hand dug once original soil was encountered. All excavated deposit was wet-sieved. Only a single artefact was found during this excavation. This was a grey-pink glossy silcrete flake fragment with chipped margins (edge damage not tool use). This had a maximum dimension of 16.5mm and weighed 0.8g. Attach photographs and sketches, eg. plan & section of shelter. Do NOT dig, disturb or damage site or contents.

QUARRIES: rock type, debris, recognisable artefacts, percentage quarried	This lithic item is of silicified tuff, weathered yellow with a brown-stained proximal break. It is the distal piece of a flake with a hinge termination. It measures 12mm long (broken length), 20mm wide and 7mm thick and the flake may originally have been wider-than-long in shape. It has damage to the left lateral margin but this may not necessarily be from tool use. It has a remnant step termination on its dorsal surface indicating that it was struck from a rotated core. Part of the dorsal surface has an irregular surface and it is possible that either this item was struck from a core with irregular fracture or that part of the dorsal surface has broken away. This artefact was excavated as part of a testing programme and was located within a heavily disturbed A-horizon, under c.50cm of fill comprising building rubble and imported deposit.
