As my house is approximately 35 mtrs from the railway line level crossing. I'm very concerned about the level of noise and vibrations, that are at a significant level already, and will obviously increase due to faster trains and more constant use of the line, but to what level is unknown. My other concern would be whether the up grade to the line would consist of bells, flashing lights or even the crossing lit up to an extreme degree at night which would obviously be some what of an issue. As I believe the Inland Rail Project to be a great asset to our state, I will be anticipating positive solutions and communication regarding my concerns, regards, [Redacted]
