

Submission in Opposition to the Mamre Road Data Centre Campus

I, as a thinking, feeling human being who wants nothing best for my fellow kind and the wellbeing of the planet, strongly object to the proposed construction of the data centre campus on Mamre Road, Kemps Creek.

As I'm sure those helming construction know well at this point, data centres use a tremendous amount of resources to sustain themselves, using a staggering amount of water to keep themselves cool, and causing power outage problems for the greater area in which it's built. Centres such as these are horrible for the environment, and I urge those in charge of its development not to go through with it. We, Australia, are already responsible for some of the greatest outputs of carbon emissions, and while our government has made various attempts and promises to reduce our country's collective pollution, going through with a development such as this, with many more proposed in the future, will greatly undo any goodwill we've made towards sustaining the environment. There are plenty of other ways to employ construction workers or those who'd end up employed at the centre.

I know this may not be the most factual or intellectual submission you've received, but I couldn't live with myself knowing I didn't express my deep, strong opposition to this project.

Thank you.
