Your Comments

The amount of water that is proposed as groundwater harvested is well above what is legal for that area of land.

The increased harvesting of water will be detrimental to Lauson Creek, as the decreased runoff into the creek will cause ecological problems in the future

The recovery of more water from the tailing dam for mining operations is unsound as it will cause the water levels in the tailing dam to lowered and exposing toxic soil containing lead, cadmium and cyanide that could lead to exposure to residents, livestock and valuable grazing land on windy days
