

I have lived in rural Currawang for 54 years and I strongly object to Neolia's proposed incinerator being built in Tarago.

I believe that Neolia's toxic industrial waste incinerator will impact the health and well being of not only the Tarago community but all who live in the surrounding districts and beyond.

This is a rural area where people enjoy their space and the nonpolluted air we breathe. The Neolia incinerator will emit extremely high levels of toxic waste - polluting the air, contaminating the soil, waterways and vegetation.

Economically Neolia's incinerator will have a disastrous effect on the development and growth of Tarago and district surrounds.

I am a firm believer in the Reduce - Reuse - Recycle policy.
Is this actually ? RECYCLING

It is Sydney's waste. Why does it have to become our problem ???
