

13

21 Comments

Like

Comment

Share

Most Relevant ▾

Wendy Huang

Seriously? Peak hour traffic!

Like · Reply · Message · 23h

6

1

Talia Baker

Unless that is emergency construction what would possess them to do it during Monday peak hour???

Like · Reply · Message · 23h

8

1

Anthony Aitchison

This is because of the building work at the school. It seems the builders can do anything they like in regards to vehicles entering and exiting the site they have traffic management who are allowing trucks to run the red light at the pedestrian crossing

Like · Reply · Message · 23h

5

1

In the Cove

That is really bad have your reported it to the school or Lane Cove Council?

Like · Reply · 23h

1

1

Anthony Aitchison

In the Cove the council has told us that it is a state thing and they have no say in it. The little people get screwed again

Like · Reply · Message · 23h

2

1

Grant Warne

Anthony Aitchison but surely the council approved the traffic management plan for the work?

Like · Reply · Message · 20h

1

0

Anthony Aitchison

No I spoke to the rangers and they said they have no say when it is for state infrastructure

Like · Reply · Message · 20h

1

0

Daniel Strassberg

Grant sadly no, it's crown land being a school and the department of planning and state government approved it all

Like · Reply · Message · 14h · Edited

0

0

Write a reply

Write a comment...