The Planning Minister,

I was recently made aware that The Drip and Corner Gorge area which is now owned by Moolarben Coal Complex or Yancoal has not been set aside as an offset or included in the Goulburn River National Park. I am horrified to think that such an iconic place held in very high esteem by locals and tourist operators could be cast aside and ruined forever by a multi national company who only seem to care about $$$$$$ and not about Aussie landmarks or our environment. Does common sense not get a look in? Has anyone from your department ever visited this area, you would then know why we hold it close to our hearts.

This company is already operating far too close to this historic site and making lots of $$$$$$. Why can't this area be claimed a no go zone and let common sense reign. Many thanks Jodie Nancarrow
