

What you can do

❑ Walking / Cycling – Experience and explore the wide open spaces along 15 km of boardwalks, cycleways and walking tracks.

❑ Picnicking – Stop for a picnic at picnic tables provided in various picturesque locations on Ash Island.

❑ Fishing – Fish from the jetty on the North Arm of the Hunter River and also at Scotts Point Way.

❑ Observing animals and birds – Meander through floodplain forest listening for birds and frogs and spotting spiders and their webs.

❑ Learn about the history of Ash Island – Tea and coffee plus historical and ecological information are available at the restored 1890s Schoolmaster's House. Opening hours are 9am–5pm Monday on Saturdays. Also visit the Radar Buildings and Milham's farm.

❑ Guided tours – Tours are available on subjects ranging from floodplain forests to sustainable agriculture and history of the wetlands. Essential, phone 4964 9308.

❑ Research – Ecological studies by researchers and students from universities and agencies help monitor and guide the rehabilitation of the wetlands. A large library is maintained for public use.

