My wife & I are full time employees at Bengalla mine & worked here for the past six years. I was disappointed to hear that a logistical issue between Bengalla & Mount Pleasant, if not resolved, could see the predicted life span of Bengalla mine drastically reduced. The recent closure of Dwyton mine is a sobering example of not only the negative impact to the hundreds of mine workers that lost their jobs, but to the flow on effect to local businesses & communities. It is my hope, that Bengalla & Mount Pleasant can work out & come to a mutually beneficial arrangement that will not only allow the two mines to thrive & prosper for the life span of their leases, but also allow myself, my wife & my 600 team mates to continue working at Bengalla mine
