Dear Sir

The proposed move of the Powerhouse Museum of Applied Arts and Sciences from Ultimo to Parramatta is short sighted and ill conceived.

As an older Newcastle resident I regularly use public transport to access and enjoy this museum. I would not find this a convenient option to regularly get to Parramatta.

On one of my visits to the museum I enjoyed viewing the brilliant collection of Opera costumes. Why not consider ANOTHER museum to house and display collections such as this? London has MANY diversely interesting museums. Why shouldn't Sydney?

The very idea of moving the Powerhouse Museum - at HUGE expense - and then selling off the site to developers is ridiculous.

Ultimo should retain the Museum of Technology. Parramatta is well placed for an iconic Heritage Museum. It can display our history, our heritage and our indigenous links and culture.

N.S.W. must not destroy its links with the past either in Ultimo or Parramatta.

I hope due consideration will be given to my appeal.

Yours faithfully.

Kay Baguley
