I object to the current plan for the North West Rail Link to be a metro line. The line should be built as a heavy rail line integrated with the current system, so that double decker trains can operate from the north west directly to the City. The metro plan will prevent the ideal system from ever being achieved, so it is very short-sighted. For the foreseeable future, it will also require all north west and northern line passengers to change trains at Chatswood, which is most inconvenient. The tunnels should be built large enough for current double deck trains to allow its integration into the current rail system.
