Attn - Executive Director

This is a submission to the Narrabri Gas EIS. I object to the project & believe it should be rejected!

I'm concerned about the 35million litres of toxic groundwater being extracted - when it is treated it will generate tons of salt! What happens to the salt. - There is no disposal plan that is safe.

Pilliga Forest is the largest temperate woodland remaining in Australia - The Gas development will close 1,000 hectares which is home to many unique native species

CSG is harmful to peoples health (ref. studies around Tara/Chinchilla in Qld.) Please consider the health of workers locals & wildlife & reject this project.

Yours sincerely

Jill Hawthorn
