I would like to state that I totally agree with the project as described in the EIS.

I feel that the northern ventilation stack would probably decrease the amount of pollutants in the air in my area. At present these pollutants are being released at ground level and are less likely to be dispersed than if dispersed through a ventilation stack.

I am sure that the level of air pollutants would not increase above levels already present in Sydney's air.

The NorthConnex will be both economically and environmentally beneficial to Sydney.

Yours sincerely
