

I have just turned 13 and my bedroom overlooks the bush which I can see while I'm sitting in my bed. I like my view the way it is and don't want it to be ruined. I do not want to see cars outside my window. The only noise I hear from my bedroom are the birds in the morning and the rain on the roof when it's raining. I have sensitive hearing and can't sleep when it's noisy and wake up easily as I am a light sleeper.

In the summer when it's hot I sleep with the window open. I do not want any pollution entering my room. The stack you plan to put in is less than 50m from my bedroom. This might not give me cancer now, but will when I get older.

I go to school at St Leo's Catholic College which is 1km from the northern stack. So I will have the southern stack less than 50m from my bedroom and go to school 1m from the northern stack. So every day and night I will be surrounded by pollution in the air I breathe.

I am a fit and healthy girl who plays rep soccer, touch football, beach touch, basketball and athletics.

You might not care because you will not have to breathe the air that will kill you.