There is already has lot been said about the community complaints re the placement of the stacks what impact they will have on air quality and health risk !, this a personal impact it will have on my life as I live in Hinemoa ave Normanhurst the North Connex tunnel will coming directly 17meters under my home that means I will living on top one of busiest tunnels in Australia which is cause great deal of stress just mere thought !

What is going to do my foundation to my house whilst during building process and after of noise level and vibration let only if there is any major accident !, been just 17metres under ground also concern me re all sewerage and drainage half way down 17 meters how much pressure they can with stand without cause damage whilst building of tunnel !!!

let alone some the huge tress in area with enormous root systems what guarantee do I have from North Connex that there no damage to my home let alone breath polluted air every day as I already suffer from allergies! And the on going dust & noise level trucks coming on going whilst the construction of the tunnel !!!!

As I am planning to retire this year ! To insure I stay in good health and peace of mind I will be forced to sell my house !! And what about the value of my home I will lose 30 % the value of it worth !why should I be have to in this position in first place and let only move to some place far way as that all I will afford to purchase as I am due to retire I can not afford to take a another mortgage I I spoke to NorthConnex after they left notice under my door !! Didn't care to much who lives there turning upside down and hard ship it may cause or what may do people health or financially loss they accrue

As mention before that I am due retire so, I need value of my home to move forward and re locate I do not want leave on top of tunnel with constant stress if there is an accident in tunnel what damage it may cause !!!

You warn people not smoke yet you want put a stack in highly residential area and inform people by drop leaflet under door ! And turn people lives upside down !,
