EXISTING NOISE POLLUTION FROM FREIGHT TRAINS

At a time when existing noise is already an issue, to not address that as part of this project, does not appear to be cost-effective. Neither is it in the interests of ratepayers & residents.

I am faced with the cost of noise reduction treatments to my home, which is only 5 years old, has comfort glass installed & it is evident from ^{my own professionally conducted} noise testing, that this is not sufficient for enjoyment of life.

To state in the EIS that noise emanating from the rail corridor can only be addressed by the joint interests of Freight, Commuter & line maintenance people, appears to be whitewashing the issue. Why not include noise treatments →
