I have grave concerns to the hazardous / toxic material that is going to be extracted from CML7 leases.
As previous testing of slimes / chemical ponds from past mill waste mining / over 100 year period.

This material is stated in the proposal as weathered ore, from past mining from the old ore body.
This material has Hexavalent chromium/ arsenic/ cyanide in large quantities. There was no analysis of the hazardous material as per (state environmental planning policy NO:33 hazardous and offensive development REG-12)

Government departments have assayed in previous years and are aware of the toxic nature of these historical ponds/dumps.
Refer to crown solicitor re: lead claims / brain damage of children in Broken Hill. And previous environmental concerns from community/government departments/health department/ environmental lead centre.
As to the bio assessability of this toxic / hazardous material

The bio assessable /soluble part of the sample not being tested and is not being documented with only insoluble results being documented.

The leases are 183/184/185 and 186

Ranging 3.8km long and 1.2km this is where the historical mill waste was dumped in ponds, this material is included in the surface mining.

There is no air monitoring for the soluble part of this material.
or the chemical part.

This material is being extracted at night planning department have been notified by community.

who will take responsibility when our city is contaminated like it was back in the early 1980s when the same remnant salvage order was granted.

This same order has been granted with no environmental assessment for bio assessable component or notification to the community that the surface salvage mining / and map and description of the lease is to commence as per the director general's mining lease conditions 2004/CML7 7(73)
