In the first instance I object to the use of Part 3a to circumvent the demonstrated interest of the residents of North Sydney in the outcomes at Graythwaite. It is just wrong - an abuse of process.

Graythwaite is one of the few remaining areas of open space with trees up to a hundred years old and to change the character of the area by tree removal and addition of unsuitable bulding works is short sighted and will be judged this way by current and future generations.

We are never 'owners' of such sites in the pure sense - we are 'custodians' and with that go obligations to preserve the amenity of the area and consider the needs of the generations who will follow.

The proposals for the Graytwaite site will have far reaching consequences as it is such a large area - and this and the sums of money involved justifies a public inquiry into the uses and and abuses possible in all the circumstances.

I request a public inquiry.
