Hi Simon,

In principle there is no objection to this modification, however, the information provided did not allow the City to make a full assessment. Based on the information provided it is not clear whether there are street trees, power poles, traffic lights etc. on this footpath that may require a certain setback of the new awning structure.

Can I ask that in any assessment that the Department give consideration to Section 3.2.4 of the Sydney DCP 2012 (link provided below). In particular, minimum setback requirements from the kerb for any new awnings.

Can I also request that if a condition was not imposed on the original consent regarding awning maintenance (as it is above Council's footpath) that the Department give consideration to imposing a new condition similar to the following:

(1) AWNING MAINTENANCE

Hi Nicola,

Further to additional modification for the awning, the Department refers you to the below amendment to the application which seeks to reduce the maximum number of students from 461 to 448 (EIS stated 445).

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you wish to discuss further.

Hi Simon,

It seems we have miscalculated the No of students in our letter. The occupants in the apartment mix add up to 448. 448 is the total number of students that we are seeking.

Please assess as such.

Thanks,
