Content:

As regular visitors to the wetlands surrounding Sandgate with our young family we have serious concerns around the safety and the environment with the proposed storage of such a significant amount of explosives.

Why can this product not be stored closer to the end user and in areas that afford more appropriate storage.

This is a short term gain to a company now and a possible long term loss to future generations of wetland users. Storage facilities for ammonia nitrate can be built in many places - wetlands can not!
