

An aerial, top-down view of a city grid. The streets are represented by a network of thin black lines forming a triangular pattern. Several building footprints are outlined in black. One building, located in the upper-middle section, is highlighted with a thick black border and a light gray fill. This building has a rectangular footprint with a smaller rectangular area in the center, possibly representing a courtyard or a specific building feature. Other buildings of various shapes and sizes are scattered throughout the grid, some with internal details like windows or courtyards.

An aerial, top-down view of a city grid. The streets are represented by a dense network of thin black lines forming a triangular pattern. Buildings are shown as white and grey polygons. A central building complex is highlighted with a thick black border and contains several smaller white and grey shapes, possibly representing internal courtyards or different building sections. The overall style is minimalist and architectural.
