Executive Summary

Enstruct Group Pty Ltd, on behalf of DPT Operator Pty Ltd (DPT), commissioned Coffey Geotechnics Pty Ltd (Coffey) to carry out a Preliminary Site Investigation (PSI) for the proposed Cockle Bay Park which is located within the Darling Harbour Entertainment Precinct. The site address is 241-249 Sussex Street, Sydney, NSW. The site is identified as Lots 12 and 17 in Deposited Plan (DP) 801770, Lots 60 and 65 in DP1009964 and Lot 42 in DP864696 within the local government area of the City of Sydney Council.

DPT Operator Pty Ltd and DPPT Operator Pty Ltd (the Proponent) are seeking approval for a Concept Proposal for the redevelopment of the Cockle Bay Wharf Building and the surrounding area to create new open space and a commercial, retail and tourist precinct in the heart of the CBD (now referred to as Cockle Bay Park). The amended Concept Proposal includes:

- a large area of publicly accessible open space;
- new retail outlets, including new food and beverage destinations;
- new cultural and entertainment destinations; and
- a new commercial office tower.

In addition, the existing Cockle Bay Wharf, pedestrian bridge links across the Western Distributor and obsolete monorail infrastructure will be demolished as part of the redevelopment.

The objective of the PSI was to assess the suitability of the site for the proposed use as a commercial tower, which will form the Stage 1 SSDA.

The review of a series of historical mapping and aerial photographs indicated that the site was used for various industrial purposes and a working dock from as early as the 1880s to the late 1970s. The site ceased to be a working dock in the early 1980s and has subsequently developed as part of the Darling Harbour Entertainment Precinct. The site has been occupied by cafes and restaurants since the early 1990s.

The western portion of the site was reclaimed progressively from the 1880s to the 1990s as the area was developed. The sources of fill material used are not known but likely to be similar materials that were used in the surrounding areas of Darling Harbour, Kings Street Wharf and Barangaroo.

Based on a review of available public information and observations made during the site walkover, the following potential contamination issues were identified at the site:

- Presence of contaminated fills of unknown origin as a result of site development and land reclamation process;
- Historical ship yard, timber yard, shipping dock operations; and
- Historical automobile garage and engineers workshops.

No contamination testing data is available for soil and groundwater at the site. As such, a conclusive assessment of the land contamination status cannot be made based in the available information at this stage. Notwithstanding, it is noted that the currently the entire site is covered by building slabs and pavements, which would preclude current site users being exposed to land contamination, should soil and groundwater contamination be present. On this basis, there is sufficient grounds to consider that the current building and the public promenade would be suitable for the commercial/retail use.

Though the proposed development will have a different configuration to the existing retail/entertainment precinct, the ground cover conditions and the land use scenarios of the proposed development will essentially be similar to the existing conditions. Based on the above, the site is likely to be considered as suitable for the proposed commercial development, with respect to land contamination, if the final design of the buildings contain the following features:

- The building has no basements that will be utilised for retail, commercial use or work zones;
- The entire site surface will be covered by slabs and/or pavement, with no opportunity for direct access between site users and the underlying soils and groundwater; and
- The proposed building will be fitted with air conditioning and ventilation that will ensure that there will be minimal opportunity for any soil vapour to be accumulated within the buildings, should such vapours be present and ingress the building.

Should the above features not form part of the final design, land contamination assessment will be required to assess suitability of the proposed development.

In addition to the above, Coffey also recommends the following actions to be implemented as part of the development:

- Undertaking a contamination assessment to assess acid sulfate soil conditions and to develop appropriate management options to be implemented during construction;
- Spoils generated from the site during construction will be required to be waste classified in accordance with NSW EPA (2014) Waste Classification Guidelines prior to off-site disposal. This also applies to the spoils generated from the piles and column to be constructed as part of the deck structure construction; and
- Implementation of Unexpected Finds Protocol (UFP) to manage unexpected contamination encountered during construction.

This report should be read in conjunction with the attached Important Information About Your Coffey Environmental Report.

1. Introduction

1.1. General

Enstruct Group Pty Ltd, on behalf of DPT Operator Pty Ltd (DPT), commissioned Coffey Geotechnics Pty Ltd (Coffey) to carry out a Preliminary Site Investigation (PSI) for the proposed Cockle Bay Park which is located within the Darling Harbour Entertainment Precinct. The site address is 241-249 Sussex Street, Sydney, NSW. The site is identified as Lots 12 and 17 in Deposited Plan (DP) 801770, Lots 60 and 65 in DP1009964 and Lot 42 in DP864696 within the local government area of the City of Sydney Council.

This report supports the Response to Submissions and amended Concept Proposal associated with a State Significant Development Application (SSDA 7684) submitted to the Minister for Planning and Infrastructure pursuant to Part 4 of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (EP&A Act).

DPT Operator Pty Ltd and DPPT Operator Pty Ltd (the Proponent) are seeking approval for a Concept Proposal for the redevelopment of the Cockle Bay Wharf Building and the surrounding area to create new open space and a commercial, retail and tourist precinct in the heart of the CBD (now referred to as Cockle Bay Park). The amended Concept Proposal includes:

- a large area of publicly accessible open space;
- new retail outlets, including new food and beverage destinations;
- new cultural and entertainment destinations; and
- a new commercial office tower.

In addition, the existing Cockle Bay Wharf, pedestrian bridge links across the Western Distributor and obsolete monorail infrastructure will be demolished as part of the redevelopment.

The project will add new open space to the Sydney CBD and help to reconnect the city to the Darling Harbour waterfront. Cockle Bay Park will take its place in a revitalised Sydney CBD and speaks directly to local government objectives to create a 'Green, Global and Connected City' (City of Sydney) as well as the strategic vision outlined in 'Towards Greater Sydney 2056' to grow the "developing central city". The vision for this project was developed with consideration for the NSW Government objectives to support and "grow the knowledge industry", double tourism expenditure and "strengthen our local environment and communities" as outlined in 'NSW 2021: A Plan to Make NSW Number One'.

Please note that all plans, diagrams, images and graphics within this report and the supporting documentation (excluding the amended Concept Proposal Envelope Plans prepared by Francis-Jones Morehen Thorp Pty Ltd) are indicative only and have been included to communicate the intent of the amended Concept Proposal, including representative building shapes, forms, locations, layouts and relationships. It is proposed that these representations, together with acceptance of the building envelopes and massing, and associated design principles, will then be used to inform the Design Excellence process to follow the Stage 1 SSD Determination. Design Excellence outcomes will form the basis of the Stage 2 SSDA.

This PSI covers the footprint of the existing Cockle Bay Wharf only, which will be referred to as 'the site' herein. It is not anticipated that the other site improvements would be required extensive investigation therefore a contamination assessment is not considered to be warranted.

The objective of the PSI was therefore to assess the suitability of the site for mixed retail and commercial uses. In an email correspondence dated 27 July 2016, we were advised that the proposed development will not contain basements.

This PSI has been carried out in general accordance with Coffey's proposal dated 12 May 2016 (ref: GEOTLCOV25496AB-AA).

1.2. Background

The Proponent controls the lease of the Site, and also of the adjacent Darling Park precinct. The Darling Park site is a successful premium grade office precinct located on the west of the Sydney CBD, the associated Crescent Garden, located to the west of the three existing Darling Park towers, is a key area of open space in this part of the city.

The Proponent has recognised a number key issues with the existing layout of the Darling Park and Cockle Bay precinct, these being:

- The existing Cockle Bay Wharf building is not well integrated with the city, the Western Distributor freeway currently acts as a barrier to separate this area from the CBD;
- Publicly accessible open space is limited to the existing Crescent Garden in Darling Park; and
- The existing Cockle Bay Wharf building is outdated and is not in keeping with the future of Darling Harbour area as a vibrant entertainment and tourist destination.

The Cockle Bay precinct is at risk of being left behind and undermining the significant investment being made in Darling Harbour that will see it return to the world stage as a destination for events and entertainment. Accordingly, the Proponent is taking a carefully considered and staged approach to the complete revitalisation of the site and its surrounds. The envisaged development, which will be facilitated by the proposed building envelopes will:

- Reconnect the city with the Darling Harbour waterfront;
- Create new publicly accessible open space in the heart of the Sydney CBD;
- Create new public land above the Western Distributor;
- Provide new access routes between the city and the ICC Sydney / Darling Harbour Live precinct;
- Support the Sydney economy by providing a new premium commercial building; and
- Refresh and renew an existing entertainment and tourist destination.

1.3. Objective

The objective of the PSI was therefore to assess the suitability of the site for mixed retail and commercial uses, with respect to land contamination.

1.4. Scope of work

Coffey undertook the following scope of works:

- A desktop review of the following information sources for the site, which included:
 - Local geology, hydrogeology, topography and acid sulphate soil map extracts;
 - A selection of relevant historical aerial photographs, business directories and mapping covering the site and surrounds;
 - Local Council planning certificate for the site;
 - Registered groundwater bore information in the public register held by NSW Office of Water;

- Contaminated land records and environmental protection licence information in the public registers held by the NSW Environment Protection Authority;
- Stored chemical information database (SCID) records held by the WorkSafe NSW;
- Site observations made during the site walkover; and
- Preparation of this Preliminary Site Investigation report.

A historical title record search was not undertaken as part of this PSI as it is considered that a review of relevant historical mapping published on the historical atlas of Sydney website would provide more useful information in relation to former site uses.

1.5. Methodology

The assessment was undertaken in general accordance with the following guidelines:

- NSW OEH (2011) Contaminated Sites: Guidelines for Consultants Reporting on Contaminated Sites; and
- NEPC (1999) National Environment Protection (Assessment of Site Contamination) Measure (as amended in 2013).

2. Site information

2.1. Site identification

The site identification details are summarised in Table 2.1.

Table 2.1: Site Identification Details

Site Address	241-249 Sussex Street, Sydney, NSW
Total Site Area	Approximately 8,600m ²
Title Identification Details	Lots 12 and 17 DP801770, Lots 60 and 65 DP1009964 and Lot 42 DP864696
Current Zoning	Darling Harbour Development Plan No 1
Current Site Use	Retail - cafes and restaurants
Proposed Site Use	Commercial

2.2. Site Walkover

A site walkover was undertaken by a suitably experienced Coffey Environmental Engineer on 28 July 2016. Selected site photographs are provided in Appendix A.

2.2.1. Site Observations

The site walkover involved making observations of readily accessible site features. The observations are presented below (also in Figure 2):

- Cockle Bay Wharf, which is part of the Darling Harbour Entertainment Precinct, is located on the site;

- The site consists of two buildings (refer to as the northern and southern building herein) which are occupied by cafes and restaurants on both the ground floor and the first floor. The two buildings are connected through an aboveground walkover in the middle. Two spiral staircases are also noted on either sides of the site;
- Both buildings appear to be concrete structures with tiles used in part of the buildings as decoration;
- The site surface is either paved with brick or concrete. A water feature is located in the open area between the two buildings;
- Cafes and restaurants, with open dining areas, are located in both buildings;
- No major cracks were observed on the concrete floor within the site at the time of the site walkover. The general housekeeping practices appeared reasonable;
- Amenities facilities are located in the eastern portion of the buildings. Each building contains its own locking dock, air conditioning plant room, fire control room, electrical sub-station and switch room;
- The cleaner office is located within the air conditioning plant room in the northern building. Storage of general commercial cleaning products were noted during the site walkover;
- Recycling facilities are located with the docking docks. Potable gas cylinders were noted to be stored with the docking docks. No major crack or staining was observed in the two locking docks at the time of site visit;
- There are two storage areas within the site: the first one located in the open area between the building which is used to store potable gas cylinders and restaurant furniture. The second storage area is located under the southern building where waste bins and potable gas cylinders were noted;
- The telecommunication room is located on the first floor of the northern building; and
- Two chillers are located on the balcony level. Two restaurants, with open dining area, were also noted.

2.2.2. Spills and Losses

No evidence of fuel or chemical spills, other than minor staining on site surface, were observed at the time of the site walkover.

2.2.3. Underground and Aboveground Storage Tanks

Based on information obtained from the facility manager, there are no underground storage tanks located on-site. No aboveground storage tanks, other than portable liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) cylinders, were noted during site visit. No fill points or vent pipes that may associated with underground storage tanks were noted during the site walkover.

2.2.4. Site Drainage

The ground is generally level across the site. It is likely that drains and gutters in the buildings are connected to the stormwater system or directly into Darling Harbour. The entire site is covered with pavers and the building and as such there are no areas for infiltration of precipitation or stormwater runoff.

2.2.5. Discharges to Land and Water

No apparent visual evidence of discharges to land or water was observed on-site.

2.2.6. Wastes

It is understood that waste generated from site are collected by waste contractor on a regular basis. Information provided by the facility manager indicates that the site has a trade waste agreement with Sydney Water.

2.2.7. Discoloured Soils & Odours

No apparent visual evidence of discoloured or odorous soils were noted during the site walkover.

2.2.8. Hazardous Materials

There were no apparent potential asbestos containing materials (ACM) and lead paint observed during the site walkover. However, the potential for these materials to be present in buildings and soils on-site cannot be precluded.

2.2.9. Fill Material

There was no apparent visual evidence suggesting that widespread presence of fill material on-site. However, it is considered likely that fill material is present beneath the western part the site as much of the land close to the waterfront is reclaimed land.

2.2.10. Anecdotal Information

Based on the information provided by the facility manager Mr Den Jolly, the chemicals that are stored on-site include general cleaning chemicals used by the cleaner and tenants and cooking oils. Potable LPG cylinders are used by the tenants which are stored in the storage areas and at each premises. Coffey was also informed that the site does not contain ACM, but it does have an asbestos register. The register was not provided to Coffey for review at the time of site walkover.

2.2.11. Incident and Complaint History

The facility does not maintain a register of environmental incidents available for review during the site visit. There were no documented register of environmental complaints and incidents available for review during the site walkover.

2.2.12. Chemical and Hazardous Materials Registers

Copies of the chemical and hazardous materials registers were not provided to Coffey for review at the time of preparing this report.

2.3. Surrounding land use

During the site walkover, Coffey observed that the general land uses surrounding the site comprises retail and entertainment related and includes:

- North: Pyrmont Bridge, a two storey bar and café and Sydney Aquarium.
- East: Western Distributor and commercial office towers.
- South: Western Distributor and IMAX Building.
- West: A marina and Darling Harbour.

2.4. Regional topography and drainage

Based on the elevation contour map provided in the Lotsearch report (as appended in Appendix B) the ground level elevation of the site is approximately 2m Australian Height Datum (AHD).

The topography of the site was generally flat.

It is expected that surface water runoff would either enter into Darling Harbour directly or as stormwater via stormwater drains on-site.

2.5. Regional geology and soils

A review of the Sydney 1:100,000 Geological Sheet (Sheet No. 9130; 1983) produced by the NSW Geological Survey indicates the site is underlain by the Quaternary Alluvium, comprising 'silty to peaty quartz sand, silt and clay with ferruginous and humic cementation in places'. Shell layers are also commonly present within Alluvium.

The Soil Conservation Service of NSW, Sydney 1:100,000 Soil Landscape Sheet 9130, 1983 describes the site area as disturbed terrain consisting of level plain to hummocky terrain and is extensively disturbed by human activity, including complete disturbance, removal or burial of soil.

2.6. Acid Sulfate Soils Risk

A review of the Prospect / Parramatta 1:25,000 Acid Sulfate Soil Risk Map (Sheet No. 9130-N3; 1997, second edition) produced by the NSW Department of Land and Water Conservation indicates the site is located on disturbed terrain. Disturbed terrain may include filled areas, which often occur during reclamation of low lying swamps for urban development. Acid sulfate soil (ASS) and/or potential acid sulfate soil (PASS) materials may be present in the deeper soil horizon.

2.7. Regional Hydrogeology

Darling Harbour is located to the west of the site, which flows into Sydney Harbour. It is anticipated that the inferred groundwater flow is in a general north-west or north towards Sydney Harbour.

Based on information provided in the Lotsearch report, there are no groundwater monitoring bores located within a 500m radius of the site.

Given the proximity of the site to Darling Harbour, it is expected that the groundwater table beneath the site is relatively shallow and is influenced by tidal movement.

3. Site History

Site history information is summarised in the following sections.

3.1. Aerial Photographs

Selected current and historical aerial photographs of the site provided in the Lotsearch report (as appended in Appendix B) were reviewed. The findings of this review are summarised in Table 3.1.

Table 3.1: Summary of Aerial Photographs

Year	Observations
1930	The quality of the photograph is poor. The western portion of the site was part of Darling Harbour in this photograph, with finger wharves noted along this side of Darling Harbour. Three large building or warehouse structures are located in the eastern portion of the site. The former Pyrmont road bridge traverses the northern end of the site and connects to the present day Market Street. The area is developed with numerous buildings and roads noted in the photograph.
1943	The majority of the site footprint is occupied by three large buildings. The northern building appears to be operating as a shipyard as a ship is docked adjacent to the building between two finger wharves. Buildings can be seen on these two finger wharves. A smaller finger wharf is located to south. A small shed structure is noted on the wharf. The building in the centre of the site appears to be used as shipyard or warehouse. Construction activities appear to be occurring at the finger wharf and the land adjacent to the wharf. The southern building appears to be used as warehouse. A finger wharf is located adjacent to this building. A shed is located on the wharf. Pyrmont Bridge is clearly visible in this photograph. The bridge was a road bridge at the time of the photograph was taken and connected directly to Market Street. The surrounding area is developed with numerous buildings being present. Finger wharves are present along the foreshore of Darling Harbour.
1955	The northern and central buildings are partially demolished to make way for a new road. The southern building is completely demolished. Land reclamation activities are noted in the western portion of the site, with a small structure noted in the southern end of the site on the newly reclaimed land. Two finger wharves located to the north of the site have now been demolished. No other significant changes are noted in the surrounding area, with the exception of a new finger wharf being constructed to the north of the site.
1961	The new road is clearly visible in the photograph. The northern building has been demolished and the area previously occupied by the building is covered with concrete. A few smaller structures are located in this part of the site. The eastern half of the central building is now occupied to the east of the new road which is outside the current site boundary. No other significant changes are noted.
1970	No significant changes to the site and the surrounding area, with the exception that more small buildings are located along the foreshore.
1982	The small buildings noted in the 1970 photograph are no longer on-site, except of two buildings located in the north and the south of the site. It appears that the shoreline has been brought back slightly closer to land. Wheat Road and the Western Distribution are present in the photograph. The central building has been demolished. The Pyrmont road bridge has also been demolished.
1991	The site is used as a temporary theme park with a children's maze and fairy rides noted in the photograph. A small car parking area and an internal road are noted along the eastern site boundary.

Year	Observations
	The shoreline in this photograph resembles the current layout. The present day Pymont pedestrian bridge is also present. Finger wharves located to the south of the bridge have been demolished.
2000	Cockle Bay Wharf is visible in this photograph. A marina is located to the immediate west of the building. Two of the existing office towers located to the east of the site, together with the landscaping feature in the centre of the towers, are noted in the photograph. The pedestrian bridge between the Wharf and the office towers is also present.
2007	No significant changes are noted in this photograph, except another office tower is now located to the east of the site.
2014	No significant changes are noted since the last photograph.

3.2. Historical Mapping

A review of some of the published available historical mapping prepared for the Sydney CBD was undertaken (<http://www.photosau.com.au/CoSMaps/scripts/display.asp>, accessed on 3 August 2016) and the results are summarised in Table 3.2:

Table 3.2: Summary of Historical Mapping

Source	Observations
City Section Survey Plans 1883	The site was owned by private individuals with the exception of the parcel of land located in the centre of the site, which appears to be owned by the government (Government Ground). Only a few finger wharves are noted in this plan.
Trigonometrical Survey 1885	A series of finger wharves are present along the Darling Harbour.
The Rocks and Foreshore Resumption, c1900	The central portion of the site was occupied by Federal Wharves and the southern portion by the Fagan Bros Timber Yard and the Wilkinson and Sons Timber Yard.
Fire Underwriters' Plan of Sydney 1917-1939	The northern portion of the site was occupied by automobile garage, cargo shed and gear store, case making workshop and engineers' workshops. Melbourne Steamship Company Limited occupied the northernmost finger wharf adjacent to the former Pymont road bridge. The Federal Wharves and the timber yards appear to have vacant the southern portion of the site, which is now used as a Federal Warehouse. Sheds are noted on some of the finger wharves. Wood and coal are also noted to be stored on the wharves.

Based on the above it appears that the site was mainly used for heavy industrial activities and a working dock until at least the 1940s, including ship yard, timber yard and other associated engineering uses.

3.3. Section 149 Certificates

Section 149 planning certificates for the site, prepared under the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1997, were obtained for review from the City of Sydney Council.

With regard to matters prescribed by Section 59 (2) of the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997, the planning certificate noted that the land to which the certificate relates:

- The site is not a significantly contaminated land within the meaning of the Act.
- The site is not subject to an investigation order within the meaning of the Act.
- The site is not subject to an approved voluntary investigation proposal within the meaning of the Act.
- The site is not subject to an ongoing maintenance order within the meaning of the Act.
- Council has not identified that a Site Audit Statement has been received within the meaning of the Act.

The Section 149 certificate also indicates that:

- The site is owned by the Sydney Harbour Foreshore Authority.
- The land is zoned Darling Harbour Development Plan No 1.
- There are no heritage items situated on the site.
- The site is identified as being on an Acid Sulfate Soils Map as being Class 1 (where works may require a management plan or preliminary assessment prior to development consent being issued) or Class 2 (where management plan or assessment being required for works below the ground surface or by which the water table is likely to be lowered).
- The site is not affected by mine subsidence.
- The site is identified as land being in a foreshore area.

The planning certificates are presented in Appendix C.

3.4. SafeWork NSW

A search of the Stored Chemical Information Database (SCID) and microfiche records held by SafeWork NSW was requested on 29 July 2015. The response from SafeWork NSW indicates that there is one license associated with the storage of dangerous goods within the site.

The licence was issued to Pontoon Bar in 2004 for storage of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) cylinders in the eastern portion of the site.

The response from SafeWork NSW is presented in Appendix D.

3.5. Government Register Search

3.5.1. Contaminated Land Register

The NSW Environment Protection Authority (EPA) Contaminated Land Record provided in the Lotsearch report indicates that the site is not registered as a contaminated site under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997. No registered contaminated sites are located within a 500m radius of the site. The nearest registered contaminated site is the former AGL gasworks (now the Barangaroo site) which is located approximately 550m north of the site.

A list containing contaminated sites notified to NSW EPA was also provided in the Lotsearch report. There is one site listed to be containing contamination located within a 500m radius of the site. The Interpol House is a former service station which is located approximately 180m to the east of the site.

3.5.2. Protection of the Environment Operation Act 1997 Register

The NSW EPA Protection of the Environment Operation register was provided in the Lotsearch report. There are no current environment protection licence (EPL) issued to the site under the POEO Act 1997. Two EPLs have been issued to properties located within a 500m radius of the site. The licenses were issued to Sydney Trains for railway system activities and Acciona Infrastructure Australia Pty Ltd for the construction of the CBD and South East Light Rail.

An EPL is also issued to the Barangaroo Development Authority for contaminated groundwater treatment at the Barangaroo site located approximately 550m north of the site.

3.6. Previous Contamination Assessments

No previous contamination assessments were made available to Coffey as part of these works.

4. Integrity Assessment of Historical Data

The following sources of historical data were relied upon for this assessment:

- Land and Property Information
- NSW Department of Lands
- NSW EPA
- NSW Office of Water
- SafeWork NSW

- Observations and anecdotal information obtained during the site walkover

The earliest historical records indicate that the site was used as for heavy industrial uses and a working dock from the late 1880s to the 1960s, including ship yard, timber yard, warehouse, engineering workshop and garage. Heavy industrial activities ceased in the 1960s when most of the buildings were demolished. Between the 1960s to the early 1980s the site was still used as a shipping dock but it appears that most of the heavy industries had moved out of the CBD area during this period. The western portion of the site was progressively reclaimed between the late 1880s to the 1980s. The finger wharves that were historical located on this part of the Darling Harbour foreshore were demolished by the early 1990s.

The foreshore layout was in its current form since 1991, with the Cockle Bay Wharf constructed between 1991 and 2000. No significant changes to the use of the site and surrounding area since 2000.

Anecdotal information provided by the Facility Manager, in relation to dangerous goods storage, is consistent with the dangerous goods record obtained from SafeWork NSW.

The observations made by Coffey showed that site conditions were generally consistent with the documented records discussed above. The site and the surrounding area was mostly covered with hardstand therefore signs of contamination could not be observed during the site walkover. No dangerous goods, other than small LPG cylinders, were noted to be used on-site by the restaurant operators.

The surrounding area was predominately used for heavy industrial purposes to support the working dock until around the early 1980s. The area to the east of the site has been developed for office and retail uses since the 1980s.

The site has been occupied by cafes and restaurants since the early 1990s. Based on information provided to Coffey and site observations, the amount of chemicals that are currently stored on-site restrict to general cleaning products and cooking oils. The site surface is paved therefore top down impacts associated with spills are unlikely.

Coffey considers the historical data assessed was generally adequate, reliable and suitable with regards to the assessment objectives.

5. Overview of Generalised Conceptual Site Model

5.1. Potential Areas of Environmental Concern

Based on the site history review and Coffey's observations, several potential Areas of Environmental Concern (AECs) and associated Chemicals of Potential Concern (COPCs) have been identified and are summarised in Table 5.1.

Table 5.1: Areas of Environmental Concern and Contaminants of Potential Concern

Potential Contaminating Activity / AEC	COPC	Likelihood of Impact	Comments
Fill material of unknown origin used as part of site development and land reclamation process	PAH, TRH, heavy metals, and asbestos	Moderate to high	Fill material of unknown origin may have been used as part of site development and land reclamation process. Fill material could contain dredged materials, waste material generated from the site and nearby area and ash from coal burning. Fill material is expected to be present up to several metres down above the underlying natural soils.
Former shipyard operation	BTEX, PAH, TRH, heavy metals, PCB and asbestos	Low to moderate	Ship repairs were likely to be undertaken in the former shipyards operating along Darling Harbour. Fuels, engine oils and other lubricants were likely to be used and stored on-site at the time. Waste generated from shipyard operation may also be present on-site. Coal was likely to be used as a fuel on-site until installation of town electricity supply. Ash resulting from burning of coal could be present within the fill material. Impacts are likely to be present within the fill material, if any. Trialkyltins were not discovered as an antifouling agent until the 1950s, and became commonly used in antifouling paints in the 1960s and 1970s. Notes:

BTEX: benzene, toluene, ethylbenzene and total xylene

TRH: total recoverable hydrocarbon

PAH: polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbon

OCP: organochlorine pesticides

TBT: tributyl tin

VOC: volatile organic compounds

Heavy metals: arsenic, cadmium, chromium, copper, lead, mercury, nickel and zinc.

5.2. Potential Pathways

Based on information obtained from the public registers, the nearest contamination site is the former Hickson Road gasworks where the Barangaroo development (Stage 1B of Barangaroo) is currently underway. This gasworks contamination is currently being remediated.

Though not considered warranted regulating under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 by the EPA, contaminated fill resulting from historical land reclamation activities was identified during the development of Kings Street Wharf and Barangaroo Stage 1A which are located to the north of the site. It is considered conditions similar to those encountered on the Kings Street and Barangaroo Stage 1A are likely to be encountered at the site, particularly with regards to the quality of the fill material used in land reclamation.

Potential contamination issues and/or impacts at the site may include direct contact, ingestion and inhalation of contaminants from fill material associated with historical land reclamation activities and other historical activities at the site.

5.3. Potential Environmental and Health Receptors

Based on the architectural drawings provided to Coffey at the time of engagement, it appears that the site will be covered entirely by future buildings and paved promenade. We also understand that the currently proposed development will contain no basement levels.

It is anticipated that the construction workers will have direct contact to the underlying soils during foundation constructions where the underlying soils is likely to be exposed. Should contamination be present, the risk can be managed through the implementation of Construction Environmental Management Plan (CEMP) and relevant health and safety management plans.

As the proposed development would not contain basement construction, there is limited opportunity for construction and future maintenance workers to have direct and/or indirect contact to the underlying groundwater.

There will be limited opportunities for future site maintenance workers, office workers and site visitors to have direct contact to the underlying soils and groundwater.

Given that the site will remain for commercial use, potential risk to ecological receptors has not been considered in this assessment.

6. Conclusions and recommendations

The site was used for various industrial purposes and a working dock from as early as the 1880s to the late 1970s, as confirmed by a review of a series of historical mapping and aerial photographs. The site ceased to be a working dock from the early 1980s and has subsequently developed as part of the Darling Harbour Entertainment Precinct. The site has been occupied by cafes and restaurants since the early 1990s.

The western portion of the site was reclaimed progressively from the 1880s to the 1990s as the area was developed. The sources of fill material used are not known and likely to be similar materials that were used in the surrounding areas of Darling Harbour, Kings Street Wharf and Barangaroo.

Based on a review of available public information and observations made during the site walkover, the following potential AECs identified at the site:

- Presence of contaminated fills of unknown origin as a result of site development and land reclamation process;
- Historical ship yard, timber yard, shipping dock operations; and
- Historical automobile garage and engineers workshops.

No contamination testing data is available for soil and groundwater at the site. As such, a conclusive assessment of the land contamination status cannot be made based on the available information at this stage. Notwithstanding, it is noted that the currently the entire site is covered by building slabs and pavements, which would preclude current site users being exposed to land contamination, should soil and groundwater contamination be present. On this basis, there is sufficient grounds to consider that the current building and the public promenade would be suitable for the commercial/retail use.

Though the proposed development will have a different configuration to the existing retail/entertainment precinct, the ground cover conditions and the land use scenarios of the proposed development will essentially be similar to the existing conditions. Based on the above, the site is likely to be considered as suitable for the proposed commercial development, with respect to land contamination, if the final design of the buildings contain the following features:

- The building has no basements that will be utilised for retail, commercial use or work zones;
- The entire site surface will be covered by slabs and/or pavement, with no opportunity for direct access between site users and the underlying soils and groundwater; and
- The proposed building will be fitted with air conditioning and ventilation that will ensure that there will be minimal opportunity for any soil vapour to be accumulated within the buildings, should such vapours be present and ingress the building.

Should the above features not form part of the final design, land contamination assessment will be required to assess suitability of the proposed development.

In addition to the above, Coffey also recommends the following actions to be implemented as part of the development:

- Undertaking a contamination assessment to assess acid sulfate soil conditions and to develop appropriate management options to be implemented during construction;
- Spoils generated from the site during construction will be required to be waste classified in accordance with NSW EPA (2014) Waste Classification Guidelines prior to off-site disposal. This also applies to the spoils generated from the piles and column to be constructed as part of the deck structure construction; and
- Implementation of Unexpected Finds Protocol (UFP) to manage unexpected contamination encountered during construction.

This report should be read in conjunction with the attached Important Information About Your Coffey Environmental Report.

7. Limitations

The findings contained in this report are the result of discrete/specific methodologies used in accordance with practices and standards used by appropriately qualified and experienced consultants. To the best of our knowledge, they represent a reasonable interpretation of the general condition of the site at the time the investigations were carried out. Professional judgement must be exercised in the collection and interpretation of the data. Due to site access constraints, the possibility that other, as yet unidentified, contamination is present at the site cannot be precluded.

Under no circumstances, however, can it be considered that these findings represent the actual state of the site at all points. This report does not address issues relating to geotechnical or potentially hazardous building materials or services, which may be present on the site.

Important information about your Coffey Report

As a client of Coffey you should know that site subsurface conditions cause more construction problems than any other factor. These notes have been prepared by Coffey to help you interpret and understand the limitations of your report.

Your report is based on project specific criteria

Your report has been developed on the basis of your unique project specific requirements as understood by Coffey and applies only to the site investigated. Project criteria typically include the general nature of the project; its size and configuration; the location of any structures on the site; other site improvements; the presence of underground utilities; and the additional risk imposed by scope-of-service limitations imposed by the client. Your report should not be used if there are any changes to the project without first asking Coffey to assess how factors that changed subsequent to the date of the report affect the report's recommendations. Coffey cannot accept responsibility for problems that may occur due to changed factors if they are not consulted.

Subsurface conditions can change

Subsurface conditions are created by natural processes and the activity of man. For example, water levels can vary with time, fill may be placed on a site and pollutants may migrate with time. Because a report is based on conditions which existed at the time of subsurface exploration, decisions should not be based on a report whose adequacy may have been affected by time. Consult Coffey to be advised how time may have impacted on the project.

Interpretation of factual data

Site assessment identifies actual subsurface conditions only at those points where samples are taken and when they are taken. Data derived from literature and external data source review, sampling and subsequent laboratory testing are interpreted by geologists, engineers or scientists to provide an opinion about overall site conditions, their likely impact on the proposed development and recommended actions. Actual conditions may differ from those inferred to exist, because no professional, no matter how qualified, can reveal what is hidden by earth, rock and time. The actual interface between materials may be far more gradual or abrupt than assumed based on the facts obtained. Nothing can be done to change the actual site conditions which exist, but steps can be taken to reduce the impact of unexpected conditions. For this reason, owners should retain the services of Coffey through the development stage, to identify variances, conduct additional tests if required, and recommend solutions to problems encountered on site.

Your report will only give preliminary recommendations

Your report is based on the assumption that the site conditions as revealed through selective point sampling are indicative of actual conditions throughout an area. This assumption cannot be substantiated until project implementation has commenced and therefore your report recommendations can only be regarded as preliminary. Only Coffey, who prepared the report, is fully familiar with the background information needed to assess whether or not the report's recommendations are valid and whether or not changes should be considered as the project develops. If another party undertakes the implementation of the recommendations of this report there is a risk that the report will be misinterpreted and Coffey cannot be held responsible for such misinterpretation.

Your report is prepared for specific purposes and persons

To avoid misuse of the information contained in your report it is recommended that you confer with Coffey before passing your report on to another party who may not be familiar with the background and the purpose of the report. Your report should not be applied to any project other than that originally specified at the time the report was issued.

Interpretation by other design professionals

Costly problems can occur when other design professionals develop their plans based on misinterpretations of a report. To help avoid misinterpretations, retain Coffey to work with other project design professionals who are affected by the report. Have Coffey explain the report implications to design professionals affected by them and then review plans and specifications produced to see how they incorporate the report findings.

Data should not be separated from the report

The report as a whole presents the findings of the site assessment and the report should not be copied in part or altered in any way. Logs, figures, drawings, etc. are customarily included in our reports and are developed by scientists, engineers or geologists based on their interpretation of field logs (assembled by field personnel) and laboratory evaluation of field samples. These logs etc. should not under any circumstances be redrawn for inclusion in other documents or separated from the report in any way.

Geoenvironmental concerns are not at issue

Your report is not likely to relate any findings, conclusions, or recommendations about the potential for hazardous materials existing at the site unless specifically required to do so by the client. Specialist equipment, techniques, and personnel are used to perform a geoenvironmental assessment. Contamination can create major health, safety and environmental risks. If you have no information about the potential for your site to be contaminated or create an environmental hazard, you are advised to contact Coffey for information relating to geoenvironmental issues.

Rely on Coffey for additional assistance

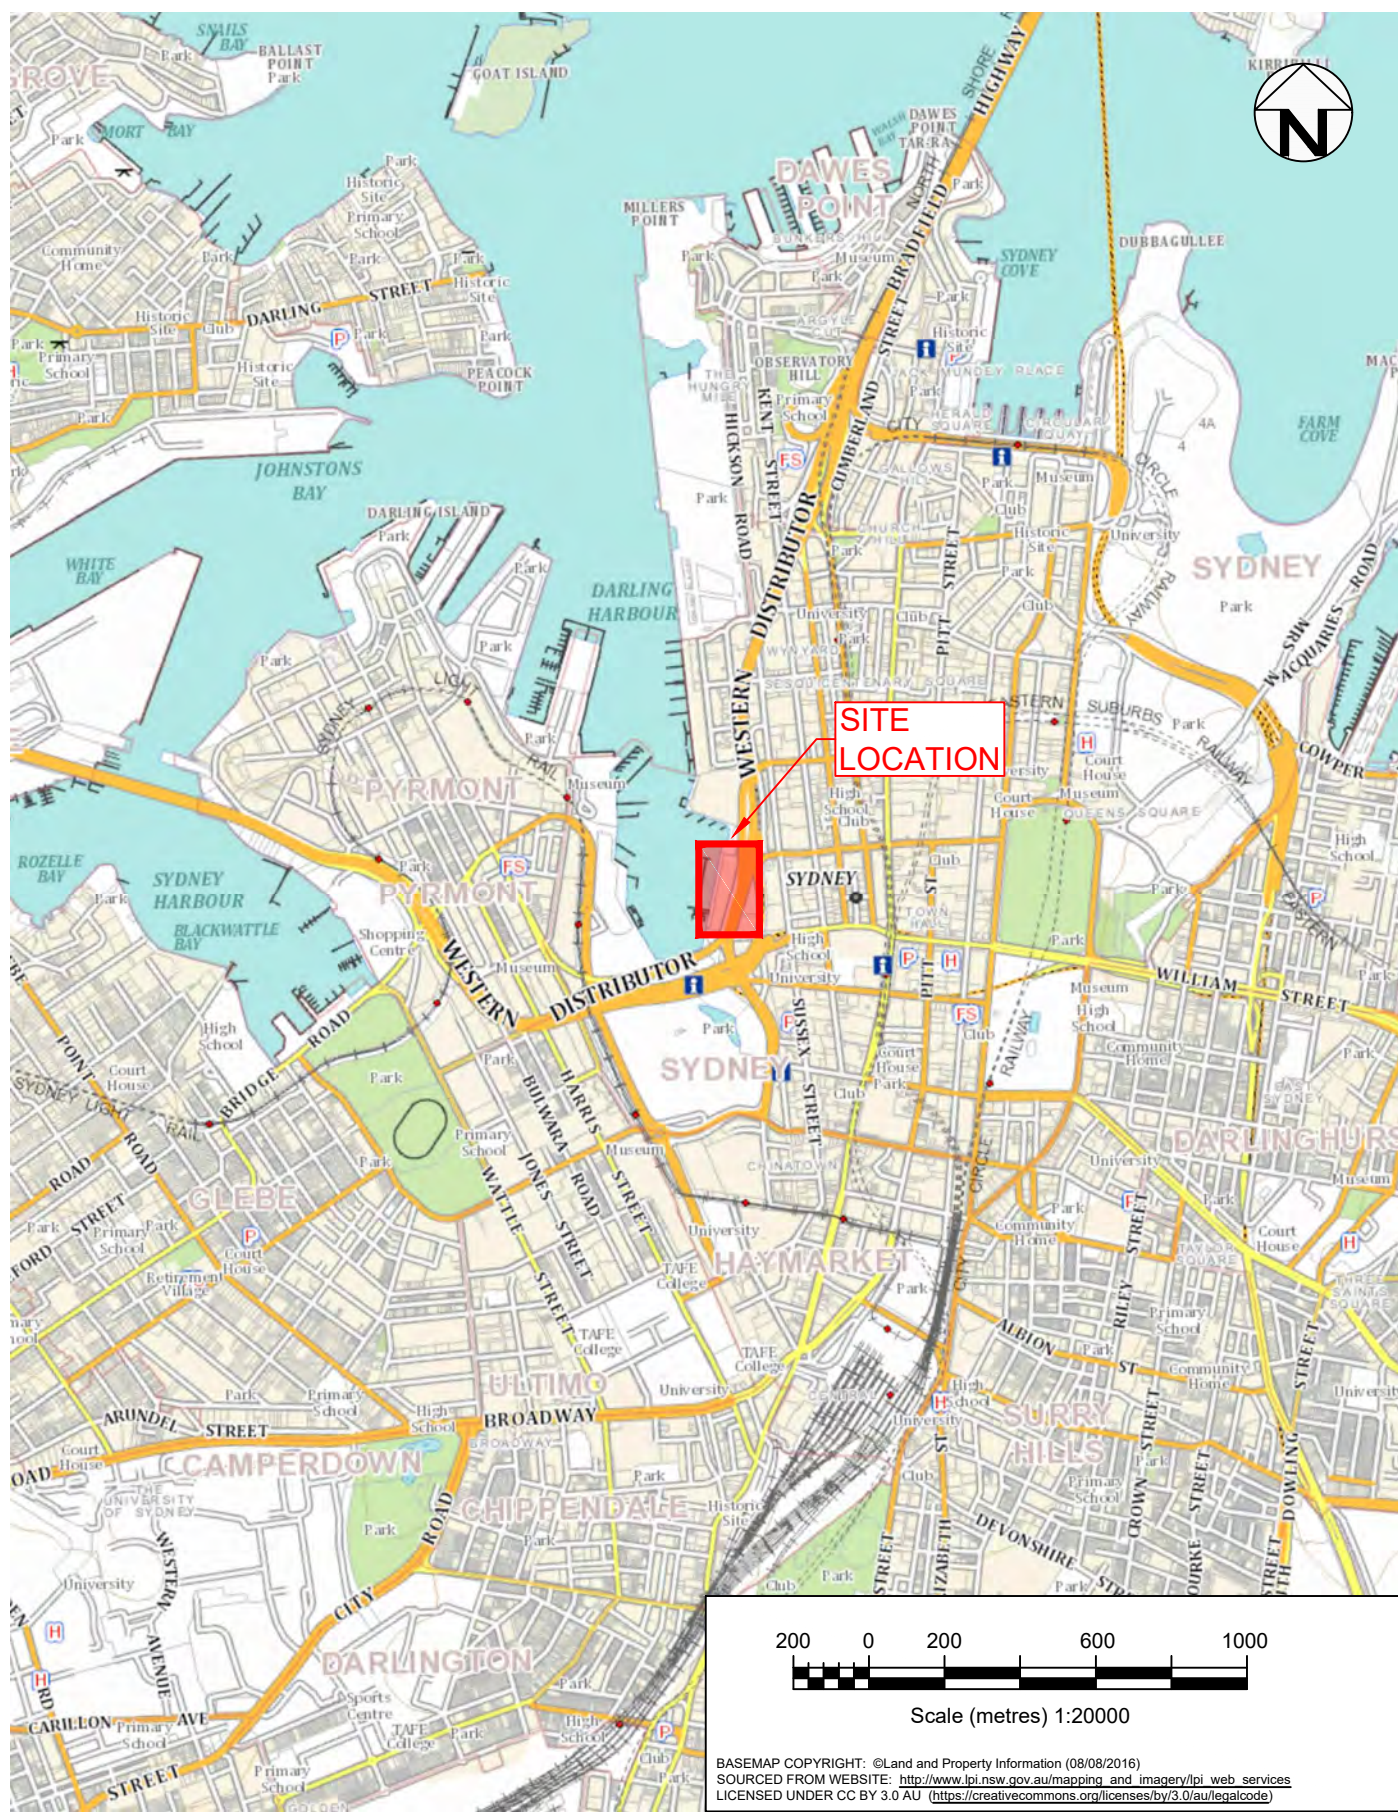

Coffey is familiar with a variety of techniques and approaches that can be used to help reduce risks for all parties to a project, from design to construction. It is common that not all approaches will be necessarily dealt with in your site assessment report due to concepts proposed at that time. As the project progresses through design towards construction, speak with Coffey to develop alternative approaches to problems that may be of genuine benefit both in time and cost.

Responsibility

Reporting relies on interpretation of factual information based on judgement and opinion and has a level of uncertainty attached to it, which is far less exact than the design disciplines. This has often resulted in claims being lodged against consultants, which are unfounded. To help prevent this problem, a number of clauses have been developed for use in contracts, reports and other documents. Responsibility clauses do not transfer appropriate liabilities from Coffey to other parties but are included to identify where Coffey's responsibilities begin and end. Their use is intended to help all parties involved to recognise their individual responsibilities. Read all documents from Coffey closely and do not hesitate to ask any questions you may have.

Location Confidences

Where Lotsearch has had to georeference features from supplied addresses, a location confidence has been assigned to the data record. This indicates a confidence to the positional accuracy of the feature. Where applicable, a code is given under the field heading “LC” or “LocConf”. These codes lookup to the following location confidences:

LC Code	Location Confidence
1	Georeferenced to the site location / premise or part of site
2	Georeferenced with the confidence of the general/approximate area
3	Georeferenced to the road or rail
4	Georeferenced to the road intersection

The values within the EPA site management class in the table above, are given more detailed explanations in the table below:

EPA site management class	Explanation
Contamination being managed via the planning process (EP&A Act)	The EPA has completed an assessment of the contamination and decided that the contamination is significant enough to warrant regulation. The contamination of this site is managed by the consent authority under the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (EP&A Act) planning approval process, with EPA involvement as necessary to ensure significant contamination is adequately addressed. The consent authority is typically a local council or the Department of Planning and Environment.
Contamination currently regulated under CLM Act	The EPA has completed an assessment of the contamination and decided that the contamination is significant enough to warrant regulation under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 (CLM Act). Management of the contamination is regulated by the EPA under the CLM Act. Regulatory notices are available on the EPA's Contaminated Land Public Record of Notices.
Contamination currently regulated under POEO Act	The EPA has completed an assessment of the contamination and decided that the contamination is significant enough to warrant regulation. Management of the contamination is regulated under the Protection of the Environment Operations Act 1997 (POEO Act). The EPA's regulatory actions under the POEO Act are available on the POEO public register.
Contamination formerly regulated under the CLM Act	The EPA has determined that the contamination is no longer significant enough to warrant regulation under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 (CLM Act). The contamination was addressed under the CLM Act.
Contamination formerly regulated under the POEO Act	The EPA has determined that the contamination is no longer significant enough to warrant regulation. The contamination was addressed under the Protection of the Environment Operations Act 1997 (POEO Act).
Contamination was addressed via the planning process (EP&A Act)	The EPA has determined that the contamination is no longer significant enough to warrant regulation. The contamination was addressed by the appropriate consent authority via the planning process under the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (EP&A Act).
Ongoing maintenance required to manage residual contamination (CLM Act)	The EPA has determined that ongoing maintenance, under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 (CLM Act), is required to manage the residual contamination. Regulatory notices under the CLM Act are available on the EPA's Contaminated Land Public Record of Notices.
Regulation being finalised	The EPA has completed an assessment of the contamination and decided that the contamination is significant enough to warrant regulation under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997. A regulatory approach is being finalised.

EPA site management class	Explanation
Regulation under the CLM Act not required	The EPA has completed an assessment of the contamination and decided that regulation under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 is not required.
Under assessment	The contamination is being assessed by the EPA to determine whether regulation is required. The EPA may require further information to complete the assessment. For example, the completion of management actions regulated under the planning process or Protection of the Environment Operations Act 1997. Alternatively, the EPA may require information via a notice issued under s77 of the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 or issue a Preliminary Investigation Order.
