DA supplement: a guide to filling in your application

NSW GOVERNMENT
Department of Planning

1. How to use this guide

This guide provides information to help you fill in your development application. The sections of the guide relate to the parts of the development application (DA) form where you may need to attach additional information. If you need additional help in completing your application, please contact the Department of Planning.

2. Describe what you propose to do

You need to include a brief description of the proposed development, detailing the major components of the development.

e.g. 'Construct and operate a solid waste landfill at the former [name] quarry. The proposal includes a private access road and administrative and support infrastructure. The proposed capacity of the site is 5 million tonnes of waste, and ABC Pty Ltd seeks approval to accept 100,000 tonnes per annum of inert putrescible and industrial waste from the [name] area.'

3. Plans of the land and development (Part 8 of the DA form)

You need to include a site plan of the land and the plans or drawings of the proposal to show what you intend to do.

The site plan is to be drawn to scale and show:

- the location of the land, the measurements of the boundaries of the land, the size of the land and which direction is north
- existing vegetation and trees on the land
- the location and uses of buildings that are already on the land
- the existing levels of the land in relation to buildings and roads
- the location and uses of buildings on sites adjoining the land.

The plans or drawings are to be drawn to scale and show, where relevant:

- the location of any buildings or works (including extensions, additions to existing buildings or works) in relation to the land's boundaries and adjoining development
- the floor plans of any proposed buildings showing layout, partitioning, room sizes and intended uses of each part of the building
- how high the proposed development will be in relation to the land
- each elevation of the proposed building(s)
- any changes that will be made to the level of the land by excavation, filling or otherwise
- the level of the lowest floor, the level of any yard or unbuilt area and the level of the ground
- the arrangements you have made for parking, where vehicles will enter and leave the site, and how vehicles will move about the site
- proposed landscaping and treatment of the land (indicating plant types and their height and maturity)
- proposed methods of draining the land
- in the case of development to which clause 2A of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Regulation 2000 applies or if the development application is accompanied by a BASIX certificate (despite there being no obligation under clause 2A for it to be so accompanied), such other matters as any BASIX certificate for the development requires to be included on the sketch.

You will need to attach these additional plans, if applicable:

- an A4 size plan of the proposed building and other structures on the site if you propose to erect, alter or add to a building, and your development does not need to be advertised to the public. The Department can tell you if your development must be advertised. The plan is to indicate the height and external shape of the proposed building as it will be erected on the site and include details of other buildings or structures on the site.
- a plan of an existing building, drawn to scale, if your application involves building work to alter, expand or rebuild the building. The plan will allow the Department to assess whether any existing buildings must be upgraded for safety reasons.

4. Assessing the environmental impacts of the proposal (Part 9 of DA form)

To assist the Department in assessing the impacts of your proposal, you may need to attach one or more environmental reports to your application. The type of report/s required depends on whether your proposal is designated development or not, and the possible effects on threatened species.

For designated development

Section 77A of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 states that designated development is development that is declared to be designated development by an environmental planning instrument or the regulations (the Environmental Planning and Assessment Regulation 2000).

If your development is designated development, please attach an environmental impact statement (EIS) to your application. The Director General of the Department has a number of requirements for what must be included in an EIS. The requirements depend upon the nature of the proposed development.

Contact the Department if you need help in determining whether your proposal is designated development and to find out what you will need to include in your EIS.

You will also need to submit an electronic copy of the executive summary of the EIS. This will be published on the Department's website. The document must be saved as a PDF and can be emailed to the Department or saved on CD and attached to the hard copy.

For all other types of development

If your development is not designated development, please attach a statement of environmental effects (SEE). Table 1 sets out the information you need to include in your SEE.

Table 1 What to include in a statement of environmental effects

A statement of environmental effects of a proposal is to include information on the following:

- what you consider to be the environmental impacts of the development
- how you have identified the environmental impacts of the development
- the steps you will take to protect the environment or to lessen the expected harm to the environment
- any matters that must be included by any guidelines issued by the Director-General of the Department
- how you have addressed any other matters identified by the relevant planning instruments.

Where relevant, your statement of environmental effects may also need to include additional information:

For shops, offices, commercial or industrial development:

- the hours of operation
- the plant and machinery to be installed
- the type, size and quantity of goods to be made, stored or transported
- the loading and unloading facilities that will be available.

To change the use of a building (where you are not doing any building work):

You do not need to include these lists if the building will now be used as a single dwelling or a non-habitable building or structure (such as a private garage, carport, shed, fence, antenna or swimming pool).

- a list of Category One fire safety provisions that currently apply to the existing building, and
- a list of Category One fire safety provisions that are to apply to the building following its change of use
- a list of fire safety measures currently used in the building

Each list is to describe the extent, capability and the basis of design of each of the provisions/measures.

For a subdivision:

- the details of the existing and proposed subdivision pattern (including the number of lots and the location of roads)
- the consultation you have carried out with the public authorities who provide, or will increase, the services you will need (e.g. water, road, electricity, sewerage)
- preliminary engineering drawings which show proposed roads, water, sewer, and earthworks
- both the existing and the proposed ground levels when the subdivision is completed.

For demolition:

- the age and condition of the building or structure you will demolish
- whether the building or structure has heritage value.

For building or demolition:

- the methods that will be used to protect the site during construction or demolition.

For development relating to an existing use:

- the details of the existing use
- a justification for the proposal having regard to the objectives of the zone.

For a temporary structure

- documentation that specifies the live and dead loads the temporary structure is designed to meet
- a list of proposed fire safety measures to be provided in connection with the use of the temporary structure
- a statement as to how the performance requirements of Part B1 and NSW Part H102 of Volume One of the Building Code of Australia are to be complied with
- documentation describing any accredited building product or system sought to be relied on for the purposes of section 79C(4) of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979
- copies of any compliance certificates to be relied on.

For entertainment venues

- a statement that specifies the maximum number of persons proposed to occupy, at any one time.

For advertisements:

- the size, type, colour, materials and position of the sign board or structure on which the advertisement will be displayed.

For development in a wilderness area:

- a copy of a consent from the Minister for the Environment if the area is subject to a wilderness protection agreement or a conservation agreement. (You can contact the Department of Environment and Climate Change on 02 9995 5000 to determine if there is an agreement in place).

For DAs for residential flat development to which State Environmental Planning Policy No. 65 – Design Quality of Residential Flat Development applies:

- an explanation of the design in terms of the design quality principles set out in Part 2 of State Environmental Planning Policy No. 65 – Design Quality of Residential Flat Development
- drawings of the proposed development in the context of surrounding development, including the streetscape
- development compliance with building heights, building height planes, setbacks and building envelope controls (if applicable) marked on plans, sections and elevations
- drawings of the proposed landscape area, including species selected and materials to be used, presented in the context of the proposed building or buildings, and the surrounding development and its context
- if the proposed development is within an area in which the built form is changing, statements of the existing and likely future contexts
- photomontages of the proposed development in the context of surrounding development,
- a sample board of the proposed materials and colours of the façade
- detailed sections of proposed facades
- if appropriate, a model that includes the context.

For proposals that may affect threatened species

Please use the test set out in Table 2 to work out whether your proposal is likely to significantly impact on threatened species, populations, ecological communities or their habitats. If you need help to do the test, please contact the Department of Planning or the Department of Environment and Climate Change.

If your development is likely to have a significant effect on threatened species, populations, ecological communities or their habitats, please attach a species impact statement (SIS) to your application. If you are also required to attach an environmental impact statement (EIS) to your application, you can address the requirements of the SIS in your EIS. Contact the NSW Department of Environment and Climate Change about what you need to include in your SIS.

Table 2 Will your proposal impact on threatened species?

The following factors must be taken into account in deciding whether there is likely to be a significant effect on threatened species, populations or ecological communities, or their habitats, along with any relevant assessment guidelines:

- (1) in the case of a threatened species, whether the action proposed is likely to have an adverse effect on the life cycle of the species such that a viable local population of the species is likely to be placed at risk of extinction
- (2) in the case of an endangered population, whether the action proposed is likely to have an adverse effect on the life cycle of the species that constitutes the endangered population such that a viable local population of the species is likely to be placed at risk of extinction
- (3) in the case of an endangered ecological community or critically endangered ecological community, whether the action proposed:
 - (i) is likely to have an adverse effect on the extent of the ecological community such that its local occurrence is likely to be placed at risk of extinction
 - (ii) is likely to substantially and adversely modify the composition of the ecological community such that its local occurrence is likely to be placed at risk of extinction
- (4) in relation to the habitat of a threatened species, population or ecological community:
 - (i) the extent to which habitat is likely to be removed or modified as a result of the action proposed
 - (ii) whether an area of habitat is likely to become fragmented or isolated from other areas of habitat as a result of the proposed action
 - (iii) the importance of the habitat to be removed, modified, fragmented or isolated to the long-term survival of the species, population or ecological community in the locality
- (5) whether the action proposed is likely to have an adverse effect on critical habitat (either directly or indirectly)
- (6) whether the action proposed is consistent with the objectives or actions of a recovery plan or threat abatement plan
- (7) whether the action proposed constitutes or is part of a key threatening process or is likely to result in the operation of, or increase the impact of, a key threatening process.
